WILL WOULD SUB FOR HOOVER AT MINOR LUNCHEONS

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Ambassador Fletcher from Rome, on his way to join Hoover party, was by to see me today.

You know I told you politicians that if Hoover was elected that he would just about fool you all by surrounding himself with a lot of able men. Well, he did it. This fellow knows all about South America.

I would liked to have gone on that trip and believe I could have been pretty useful and taken a lot of unnecessary work off Mr. Hoover's shoulders. I could have spoken at all the unimportant events.

That is, I would have been the luncheon club speaker. It don't take very good speaking for that. That's the training table for after dinner speakers. Then he could have gone on at night.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle is steadily expanding. Report of the building permit department that 120 new homes have been erected inside the city limits during the ten months of the present year, about the same number as during the same period last year. This takes no consideration of the large number also erected in the suburban territory near the city. New Castle is steadily expanding to metropolitan proportions.

Pa Newc notes that the school board is offering the old Martin Gantz property for sale. There have been a number of rumors as to possible uses of the site of this abandoned school and it will be demonstrated now whether or not there is a demand for the site.

New Castle councilmen should give attention to the idea of inproving Rural avenue before the new bridge across the Neshannock at North street is completed. With Rural avenue in good passable condition there will be provided a route down to the new bridge from the north hill that will take a lot of traffic out of the congested section.

Forecasts are being made throughout the country of the greatest holiday business in the history of the country, this year. With industrial conditions growing better and better, and with the election question settled, America is apparently headed toward widespread prosperity, official forcasters predict.

Pa Newc took a little stroll yesterday and in his ambles he chanced through a second-hand store. It, like the old country store of cuspidor fame, is an education in itself. There is everything there and what isn't there can be gotten for you in no time at all. There is nothing that one might mention in furniture, old or new, that is not on display. An old melodium some 200 years old, beautiful stick of wood it is, sits quietly and dustily in one of these stores.

Pa Newc ran across a man the other day who was visiting here and who said that he would rather live in New Castle than in New York City, where he had been living. The man wasn't speaking before an audience, nor was he attempting to sell anything, so Pa Newc took him at his word.

Tonight the safety campaign for the city will be launched at the joint meeting of the civic clubs. Women shoppers will welcome one of the reforms that they are advocating. The drive committees hope to aid the parking question so that shoppers can drive to a store, shop, then drive to the next store. A hard thing to arrange, but certainly worth while.

That new fire-fighting apparatus at the central fire station is still the wonder of the children of the neighborhood, and of many other neighborhoods. Almost every noon children come down to the fire house and ask, please mister, can we look at the new truck? And always their requests are granted, providing that

Will Start Probes Of Vestris Sinking And Charges Made

Many Of Rescued Passengers Charge Bungling By Those In Charge

DELAYED S. O. S. IS CONDEMNED

Fifty-Seven More Survivors Are Landed At New York City

By THEODORE B. GOETZ
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Snatched back from death, 57 more survivors of the Vestris landed here early today, some to add their tales of nightmare horror, others their charges of wanton negligence to the picture of the sinking of the liner.

A blunt nosed tug pushed up the same bay down which the Vestris bore 328 souls last Saturday, and eight passengers and 49 members of the crew disembarked. Three vessels saved 156 others. The remaining 115 will not return.

Picked Up By Tanker

The survivors came from two lifeboats picked up near the scene of the sinking, 250 miles off the Virginia coast, by the French tanker Myriam. A tug took the castaways of the tanker at quarantine. Its mission accomplished, the Myriam turned out again for London.

First of the 49 of the crew filed slowly and silently off, grey army blankets across their shoulders. Then the handful of passengers, headed by Herman Hipp, of Chicago, and Campbell Kellman, of Upper Montclair, N. J.

Then Harry Fay, boxer of Charleroi, came off and William M. Fields of New York. 0. C. Patterson of Edmonton, Alberta, Walter Cadogan of New York and S. Cox of Montreal.

Chief Wireless Operator Missing

Two of the three wireless operators of the Vestris were among the 49 members of the crew. They were Charles Verchere and James McDonald. Michael O'Loughlin, the chief operator, was still at his key trying to make the weakening signals heard when the Vestris keeled over and

New Section Of Concrete Road Will Be Built

Will Extend West From Pennsylvania Tracks On Edenburg-Harrisville Road

County commissioners announced this morning that another section of improved highway approximately one and one-half miles long, is to be constructed on the Edenburg-Hillsville road. There is a balance due from the state of about $24,000 on Lawrence county's allotment and this will be matched by the county for the construction of the road. The stretch to be improved will extend from the Pennsylvania railroad tracks west toward Hillsville.

This will leave a section of unimproved road from the west end of the new concrete road through Edenburg to the Pennsylvania tracks but this is a pretty fair ash road. The reason that the improved section cannot be started from the west end of the recently improved section is that a new bridge wil have to be built on the site of the old covered bridge at Edenburg. It is also contemplated when this is done to span the railroad tracks north of the Edenburg bridge with a viaduct. It is understood that the contract will soon be let for the section west of the Pennsylvania tracks.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT

Samuel E. Carr, 1310 Delaware avenue, reported Wednesday that he was driving east on East Washington street, at the bend near the Chestnut street intersection, when his machine was in a collision with that of R. W. Cummings, 610 East Washington street, as the latter attempted to pass his machine. Some damage was done.

DEATH RECORD

Hoover Is Going To South America As Private Citizen

Rejects Idea Of Going On Tour As Official Representative Of U. S.

No Especial Diplomatic Moves To Be Required For His Trip

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 15.—President-elect Hoover has rejected the suggestion that he visit Latin-America as the official representative of the United States government.

He insists upon making his good will tour through the southern Republics as a private citizen and has accordingly refused to accept official diplomatic status.

The uncertainty on this point which has preplexed diplomatic observers at home and abroad since the Hoover tour was announced at the White House a week ago was cleared today by final orders issued at Mare Island Navy Yard for the personnel complement of the Battleship Maryland, which is to carry the president-elect on the Pacific leg of the 10,000 mile friendship jaunt.

Dilks Will Race To Erie Friday

Earl Lin Dilks, New Castle Runner, Will Start Time Race At Five A. M. Friday

HOPES TO SMASH DISTANCE RECORDS

Ex-Derbyist Expects To Reach Erie Again Eight O'clock Friday Evening

Earl Lin Dilks, ex-bunion derbyist and New Castle long distance runner will leave the diamond tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock for a race against time to Erie. He will be accompanied by officers and others in cars who will make the official check of the time.

Dilks, feeling better perhaps than ever before, hopes to reach Erie by 8 p. m. tomorrow. His plans are to reach Greenville about 10 a. m. and arrive in Meadville by 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The runner will attempt to beat the world's record for the 62, 82 and 100 mile runs and also the American record for the 100 mile grind. Dilks is confident that he can do it, if the weather Friday is not inclement.

Last year, he attempted the same grind and made wonderful time on the run. Due to a sleet which froze on his clothing as well as the road, he was forced out with victory just ahead.

Dilks states that he is in fine condition and with weather permitting he is confident that he will make Erie again 8 p. m., smashing several records for long distance running in doin so.

He will follow the direct concrete road through New Wilmington, Greenville and Meadville to Erie. With him will be a state patrolman, Officer Robert Letera, representing the city, James Dime, Garfield Davis, Dr. Leonard Stutz, former University of Michigan man, and several others from the city. They will clear the highways safe for the runner and will also act as official timers for the race.

Weather not permitting, it is probable that Dilks will not attempt the race tomorrow but will wait for a clear day.

Dilks, as most New Castleites know, has participated in a number of long distance races. He was making good time in the famous Pyle Bunion Derby of the past summer until forced to quit due to an injured foot.

Fay Tells Story Of His Rescue

Charleroi Boxer Says He Was In Three Different Lifeboats

IN OPEN SEA FOR ABOUT THREE HOURS

HARRY FAY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Victor in a battle for larger stakes than the squared circle ever held, Harry Fay, Charleroi, Pa., boxer, landed here today with the Vestris passengers rescued by the Myriam.

It was all "just another experience" Fay who grinned broadly and waved his hat while photographers flashlights flared.

"I feel fine now that the experience is over," said Fay as he stepped onto a Brooklyn dock today from the tug which had brought him and the others from the French tanker. "And it was just another experience, or a series of them.

All is Jumble.

"From the time we were lowered away from the sinking ship until we were picked up three hours later by the tanker, everything is a jumble in my mind.

"All I know is that I was saved. How I don't think I will ever know.

"The lifeboat I was in tipped up on end as it was being lowered and spilled me and more than a score of others into the sea.

"As I fell I jumped into another

Federal Prisoner At Atlanta On Witness Stand In Pittsburgh Liquor Probe

Shows How Well Operated Ring Made $10,000 Weekly With Big Auto Delivery Sale

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—With the amazing story of the inner workings of a $10,000 weekly booze business as told by Charles Berger, now an Atlanta penitentiary prisoner, indelibly impressed upon their minds, the jury today turned to hear more testimony from witnesses in the North Side rum conspiracy trial.

Anthony Puniak, a government witness, was the first witness today with federal attorneys putting him through a severe grilling and cross examination.

The government representatives directed their attention to bringing to light what part politics and politicians played in this alleged liquor ring.

Puniak was on the witness stand as court adjourned yesterday as what had previously been reported as one of the government's most important witnesses.

Berger was the "star witness" of the day. His testimony completely outshown that of Puniak, who besides being weak on identifying individuals, was equally weak in memory of details.

Confession Made

Berger held the courtroom steelbound with a story his hearers were wont to call "the confessions of a bootlegger." He was brought here

U. S. Federal Attorney Seeks Sinking Facts

Charges Of Negligence, Murder And Cowardice To Be Investigated

DID CREW LEAVE PASSENGERS ADRIFT?

Largest Number Lost In Tragedy Were Passengers On Ship

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—While the last of the survivors of the Vestris disaster were brought into New York today, a rigid investigation of charges of "criminal negligence" and "murder" was begun by the Federal government with a view of fixing responsibility for the sinking Monday of the liner in the storm-tossed waters 250 miles off the Viriginia Capes. Latest figures indicate that 127 of the 338 persons aboard the Vestris lost their lives.

Seventy of the 127 unaccounted for were passengers.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and his assistants lost no time in launching the inquiry even though there is some question of the jurisdiction in any criminal proceedings that may be instituted. The Lamport and Holt Steamship Vestris was of British registry and intimation came from the British embassy that an investigation also would be made by the British board of trade. There is a possibility, too, that a congressional investigation will follow.

Seek To Learn

The federal inquiry is seeking to determine, on the basis of charges made by survivors, the following:

1. Why wasn't the S. O. S. sent out sooner from the Vestris?

2. Did the company fail, as alleged by survivors, to provide adequate safety equipment?

3. Was Captain William Carey, the commander, who went down with his ill-fated ship, guilty of inefficiency and vacillation in the face of danger?

Muny Golf Course Takes On Finished Appearance Rapidly

Acres Of Land Have Been Plowed And Seeded On Course

Thirteen Holes Already Laid Out And Fairways Seeded

Looking over the new municipal golf course, located on the property of the former City Home, one is amazed at the amount of work that has been done, the speed with which it has been done, and the efficiency with which it has been accomplished.

Despite the fact that the work has been on but a compartively short time, the farm already has taken on the appearance of a golf course, and standing at the first tee one involuntarily expects to hear a golfer yelling "fore".

Plowed and Seeded

Acres of the land have been cleared out, plowed, harrowed and seeded and already an emerald carpet is spread over the rolling hills and valleys of the farm. The farm is a natural golf course and not many hazards and bunkers will be needed to

Police Chief To Make Sheridan Avenue Thru Street At Intersection

Chief of Police C. C. Horner announced this morning that a number of changes in the regulation of traffic on Albert street and Sheridan avenue were to be made.

One is to change the main thoroughfare or stop sign now on Sheridan avenue at Albert street to Albert street on Sheridan avenue, making Sheridan avenue the main thoroughfare due to the greater amount of traffic on that street.

Signs have also been posted the entire length of the paving on Albert street designating the entire paved section as a school zone owing to the necessity of protecting in every way possible the large numbers of children who are required to cross Albert street enroute to Arthur McGill and George Washington Junior high schools.

Crew Survivors Tell Of Cause Of Sea Tragedy

Captain Refused To Send S. O. S. Despite Condition Below Decks

DESPERATE EFFORT MADE TO CLOSE PORT

Coal Trimmers Tell Of Battle In Engine Room To Save Ship

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The "black gang" of the coffin ship Vestris—those anonymous slaves who sweat in the bowels of a vessel—knew that the steamer was doomed.

Twenty-three coal trimmers of the Vestris who arrived today among the rescued aboard the French tanker Myriam declared that the Vestris left Hoboken with a coal port partially open about four feet above the water line.

Like the trickle through a Holland dyke which developed into a flood, it was through this incompletely closed coal port that a storm-tossed ocean poured, causing one of the great sea disasters of modern times.

Water Mounts Steadily

The water mounted steadily in the engine room all day Sunday, according to members of the "black gang", and when it was almost up to their necks they asked that an S. O. S. be sent out.

"All day Sunday we urged an officer to tell the captain to send out an S. O. S., but we were told the captain could not be moved," declared Evans Hampden, negro.

(The S. O. S. from the Vestris was not sent out until Monday morning.)

Their warning unheeded, the engine feeders stuck to their job. It was 12 hours before the first S. O. S. was sent out to the world. The starboard boiler was out. Lifelines had to be stretched to the port boiler for men to swim along the sloping floor. Two trimmers held the man with the shovel as he attempted to get in the coal.

Hampden said that they were ordered to keep at least one boiler going so that there would be power enough for the radio when the captain decided to send out the S. O. S.

Could Not Close Port Hole

It was four a. m. Sunday morning when the early engine room shift reported water coming in threateningly through the open port, Hampden said. A squad of men attacked the open port hole with sledges and mallets, but could not close it, he said.

Then the boatswain's mate had crates and tarpaulins placed over the opening in an attempt to stem the tide. Before Sunday noon the list to starboard was 15 degrees, Hampden said.

Thomas Edwards, white, first-class steward, said the desperate situation in the engine room was known above deck most of Sunday. The stewards, with other members of the crew, were sent below to work on the engine room pumps, he said.

Dean Will Case Comes Up Monday Before Chambers

Jury Is Selected Today From Panel Attending Court This Week

WRITING EXPERTS TO BE WITNESSES

Controversy over the will of the late Nellie M. Dean, widow of J. J. Dean, will be heard before Judge J. A. Chambers, beginning on next Monday. A jury was selected from the panel attending court this week, the balance of the jurors being discharged.

The title of the suit is Jane Ligo and others against Ida B. Dodson, and others. The point at issue is the validity of the alleged will probated following the death of Mrs. Dean.

In this will Jane Ligo was made the principal beneficiary with bequests to others. Heirs of Mrs. Dean, questioned the signature to the will, claiming that it was not that of Mrs. Dean.

In the will the late R. K. Aiken was named as executor. Following his death the People's Savings and Trust Company was appointed to serve until the litigation is settled.

Considerable testimony was taken before Judge Chambers at a former hearing, but no decision was rendered, an application being made for the award of an issue and a trial by jury.

This is the case that will be taken up on Monday. It is likely to consume all week and possibly longer, and there will be considerable expert testimony, relative to handwriting. There are also a large number of witnesses. The case promises to be stubbornly contested, as a large amount is involved.

Phalanx Frat Installs Group

Six Members Taken In; Discussion Meet Follows

Induction services for six new members of the Phalanx, local Y. M. C. A. fraternity, occupied the entire program of the regular weekly meeting of the organization held Wednesday night. More than 16 regular members of the club were present to witness the installation of the group into the membership of Phalanx.

Preceding the customary program period and business meeting was the weekly dinner in the Y. M. cafeteria. Following this, the fraternity members adjourned to re-convene in the induction room, where General Secretary R. L. Meermans and Jack Etter were in charge.

In the regular business discussion that followed the services plans for the coming Phalanx programs, boys' work at the Scioto street educational center, the proposed benefit basketball game on Thanksgiving and on other projects were settled.

At the conclusion of the discussion, the members took over the Y. M. gym floor and took initial steps toward the organization of a Phalanx team. Present plans call for a benefit basketball encounter between the Phalanx group and another unscheduled quintet at the Y floor on Thanksgiving night. Proceeds of this game will go to further work among the boys in the Scioto street district, among whom the fraternity has already commenced welfare work.

New members installed into Phalanx last night were Linden Bruce, Ronald McCoy, Fred McClure, Lee Campbell, Lyle McGrath and Bruce Ewing.

HOOVER IS GOING TO SOUTH AMERICA AS PRIVATE CITIZENS

has been made for either the military or naval aides and escorts required by diplomatic usage for formal government missions.

When Mr. Hoover goes ashore, he will go as a citizen of the United States visiting a foreign soil. His diplomatic privileges and immunities will be limited to those extended by the various governments as honors and courtesies to a distinguished visitor.

Mr. Hoover's rejection of the more formal status is understood by ranking naval officers at Mare Island to have been dictated by his determination to avoid all discussions along his route which might be construed as a pledge of policy from his own administration.

Not To Involve Nation.

As president-elect he will enjoy, save possibly for the formalities of salutes, virtually every honor which would be extended under diplomatic etiquette to a visiting American president, but while thus aided in his quest for first hand information and direct personal contact with the problems and people of Latin-America, he will be without voice as a representative of the United States government. He will avoid all risk of involving President Coolidge for the remainder of his administration while preserving at the same time the utmost freedom of action in gathering facts on which to base his own administrative policies. Unrestrained by the rigid formalities of international usage he will be at liberty to talk to government officials and work-a-day citizens on equal terms. He will be commander-in-chief of his own time and will be entirely beyond the burden of close communication with Washington.

Plans Move Forward.

With this status of private citizen finally established and clearly communicated to Washington officials assisting in arrangements for the trip, plans for the departure of the president-elect moved forward with characteristic Hoover snap and directness today for the first time since the White House publicly announced approval of the project.

First among the moves clarifying the status of the tour was the decision that Mrs. Hoover and her secretary, Miss Ruth Fessler of Duluth, Minn., would be members of the party.

Secondly, it was determined that George Barr Baker, intimate friend and close campaign adviser of the president-elect since the Kansas City convention, would be aboard the Maryland.

Third, it was learned that no definite and binding itinerary will be made public before the Maryland steams out of San Pedro harbor next Monday morning. Mr. Hoover will make up the schedule from week to week to suit his wishes, and to meet the requirements of sea weather, deep water fishing and the pressure of his pre-inauguration chores in the United States.

As now decided in Mr. Hoover's mind, the tour will include visits to Mexico, Guatemala, Nicaragua, while, Peru, the Argentine, Uruguay, Brazil and possibly Cuba. Whether Bolivia and Paraguay will be added later remains entirely with the president-elect. The trip will require two full months, lacking only a few days.

they will be quiet and satisfied merely to look at the new truck, not scratching its shiny red paint by climbing all over it.

This is national book week, sponsored by libraries to promote reading in the land. While it is a fine movement, Pa Newc is not so sure it is exactly needed. For, by publishers' announcements, thousands of new books, let alone reprinted old ones, hit the market every month. At no time in its history was the United States better read than it is at the present time. And national book week intends to unload even more culture on the race.

The older residents of New Castle—those who have been around—tell about, but do not mourn, the passing of the stage door Johns in the city. There was a time, they say, when young men would johnnie about the rear entrances of the old theaters. But that was years ago, when considerable glamour was connected with show folks. Now, in this thoroughly debunked age, chorines are recognized as working girls trying to turn an honest dollar and are not bothered.

Astounding changes have been brought about in these United States by the last few decades of democracy. At the risk of being quite trite, Pa Newc again would like to announce that the world is going faster; people do not have the time to indulge in eccentricities as they did in the mauve decade—and even before. For instance: where is that flock of gourmands once so noticeable in every first-class hotel?

They are gone, like the snows of yesteryear. Now the average man's conception of a real meal is a steak, medium, and French fried potatoes. This he tops with a coffee and a cigar. Shades of Savarin! Have we no longer any trenchermen in our midst? Have we no longer those who are not afraid of the dishes with the Frenchy names? No. They are gone.

Gone? Well, not quite. A bon vivant in the little town where Pa Newc was raised (a professor doktor bon vivant) always carried a small thermometer with him so that he would not have to sup his soup at the wrong temperature. He was the last of a fast dying race of trenchermen for which the Pennsylvania Dutch country is so famous. And the last time Pa Newc visited the little town, he ate with the professor doktor bon vivant, who cautiously inserted the same thermometer into his soup and then waited patiently until it registered the right temperature. No scalding his tongue for him! His was the perfect way to eat. And he always takes two full hours to consume his dinner, which, as years before in Germany, he tops with a light wine.

make it a splendid playground for the people.

Not all of the clearing of trees has been completed. Two small clumps are yet to be blasted out and plowed, but this will require but little time. Several low-lying acres have to be drained, but the work that remains will be quickly done if the previous work is any criterion.

Thirteen holes have been laid out and the fairways seeded and work on the other five is progressing. It will continue until the snow and rain force the workmen to discontinue, but with the coming of spring weather work will be resumed as soon as possible.

Because of the number of buildings on the property, it is improbable that any new building will be needed. The municipal hospital will make an ideal women's clubhouse, while a brick building back of the farmhouse can be used for the men. The caddy house and professional's workshop can be made out of one or two of the small buildings that are in the barnyard. If the time comes when larger quarters are needed for a clubhouse, the house, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fowler, can be utilized.

Ready by Midsummer

If the work continues with the same speed as it has, the new golf course will be ready for play by midsummer of 1929. Some adjoining land of the new city-county property is being utilized, this being a piece of hillside far removed from the present home and which is not needed for any utilitarian purpose.

Standing at the old City Home, the view up the golf course is a pretty one. The terrain is a rolling one, sweeping up to the crest of a hill where the farthest outlying green will be.

Located within easy reach of East New Castle, on a well ashed road, it promises to be a mecca for golfers, once the committee in charge says it is ready for play.

Wreckage All Around.

"There was wreckage and debris all around us. Boxes and boxes and crates, pieces of wood and canvas. In some places the litter was so thick on the water that the lifeboats could hardly get through."

Fay was on his way to South America to arrange for a bout with Luis Firpo, the Bull of the Pampas. He said his fight plans are now a little up in the air. He will return to Pittsburgh in a few days he said.

The boxer was met by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crulls, Mrs. Mary Beardsley and other friends and went to the Crull home where he said the first thing he would look for would be some substitutes for the blue denim overalls and heavy sweater gathered for him from the Myriam's sea chests.

Going to Pittsburgh.

"I don't know what my plans will be" said Fay. "I'll be going back to Pittsburgh within a few days."

Fay exhibited a wrist watch which was still running and bore the exact time.

"Here's a watch I wouldn't take $1,000 for. It was on my wrist all the time and is still going. It's all I have too. We weren't able to save anything.

"I came up onto one of the lower decks with my shoes untied after I heard people shouting. That was some time before noon Monday morning. I was dressed and had a cap in my hand but no overcoat.

Saw There was Danger.

"Officers told me there was no danger at all and go to the top deck. When I got up there I saw the terrible list of the ship and I knew there was danger.

"I was in the second of the two boats picked up by the Myriam. We were saved about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The others had been rescued about 3:30. We were a good deal more fortunate than those in some of the other boats.

Fay said he saw no incidents either of heroism or cowardice on the part of other passengers or crew. He was surprised when told of the charges of negligence made by rescued passengers arriving yesterday against officers and seamen of the Vestris.

"We were among the first to get away from the ship after the first three lifeboats had been smashed" said Fay, "and I don't know of anything like that."

went down. Dr. William Sears, the ship's surgeon, and Leslie Watson, second officer, were also among those rescued by the Myriam.

The members of the crew were bundled into waiting busses chartered by officials of Lamport and Holt, owners of the Vestris. They were not allowed to talk to newspapermen.

Start Investigations

The tales of the survivors brought in yesterday by the American Shipper which carried 125 and the Berlin which had 23 of the rescued, have started at least two investigations. The passengers charged negligence, inexperience, improper training and stupidity on the part of William J. Carey, the master, and his officers.

U. S. District Attorney Tuttle promises an investigation here. One is to be conducted in London by the British Board of Trade and a third by the U. S. Senate is talked of. Outraged relatives and friends of the dead who have heard survivors explain those deaths demand that blame be fixed.

S. O. S. Delayed

Everywhere among the rescued passengers it was the same story. How the Radio S. O. S. had been delayed, how the passengers forced the captain to call for help, how an S. O. S. when the fate of the ship was apparent ten hours before she sank would have saved all aboard, how slow-fingered sailors nailed a piece of tin over a gaping hole in a lifeboat, how a boom negligently insecure crashed down onto a lifeboat filled with twenty babies and children, how half-filled lifeboats rowed quickly away from struggling, pleading passengers leaving them to drown.

One of the passengers told a story which placed blame for some of the confusion in another quarter. It was Cadogan, a New York negro, who told of being in one of the first three life boats to be launched. When the boat was filled with 30 persons, mostly women, Cadogan said they called to Captain Carey to lower them.

When the Captain ignored them, Cadogan said he whipped out a razor and slashed the ropes which held the lifeboat at the bow, thinking to get into the water. Like peas from a pod the passengers were dumped into the sea. Many of them never seen again.

In this lifeboat was Mrs. Slaughter with her husband. They were separated and neither knew until yesterday that the other had been saved.

English Inquiry

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Board of Trade—that section of the British government which deals with marine shipping—will make a vigorous inquiry into the loss of the Vestris, it was officially announced this afternoon. The registry of the Vestris was British.

The statement follows:

"Searching inquiry must be made both into the loss of the Vestris and the losses of life. The date and place of the inquiry will be announced later."

It was learned from an unofficial source that the government takes a grave view of the matter and is calling for a stringent inquiry into all phases of the disaster. It probably will be conducted by a supreme court justice. Instructions have been given that the inquiry be hastened in every manner possible.

earlier in the week from Atlanta and pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial.

In his Heyday—before he was sentenced to Atlanta on another liquor charge—Berger told his hearers of a 50-fleet automobile liquor delivery service. He told of a $10,000 weekly business in the sale of cut and uncut liquors which he sold at $50 upward for a case of 12 quarts.

Bonded liquors, he said, was his "specialty"—that is, liquors of all kinds and brands and depending principally upon the kinds of labels used.

With a sort of pride in his wares, Berger said, "I purchased real whiskey when I could get it."

Berger told all the details of a successful bootleg business—telephone orders, source of supplies and selected spots for delivery.

Parliament Eats Too Much Solids

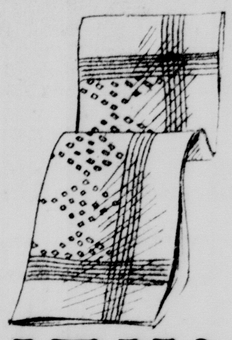

Woman Member Protests Against "Men's Food" As Served In House

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Miss Ellen Wilkinson, the pretty, petite, golden-haired woman parliamentarian, thinks that her fellow members of the House of Commons eat far too much.

"The trouble about the meals in the house," said Miss Wilkinson, wearing a charming frock of green and gold brocade, "is that they are much too solid. They are men's meals through and through, and we women members, since we are in such a tiny minority, have to make the best of them."

directed by D. N. Hoover, chief inspector, to take testimony of all available survivors of the Vestris disaster, it was announced today.

No formal investigation of the wreck was ordered, however, as the service's jurisdiction does not extend to vessels of foreign registry. The Vestris was British owned.

John L. Crone, inspector in New York, has prepared a report on an inspection of the Vestris made a few days before it sailed on its tragic journey.

Tales of Horror

Washington, Nov. 15.—The tales of horror, accusations of inefficiency and charges of "just plain murder" that rolled like a tidal wave today out of the sinking of the steamer Vestris served to increase the agitation for a thorough federal investigation of the disaster.

There appeared to be considerable doubt, however, about the authority of the executive branch of the government to conduct such an inquiry, owing to the fact the Vestris was of British registry. Officials of the U. S. steamboat inspection service, which operates under the Department of Commerce, asserted their bureau was without authority.

Department of Justice officials declined to comment upon the independent investigation already started in New York by District Attorney Tuttle.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat, of Florida, declared today, however, that if other governmental agencies fail to investigate the disaster, he would sponsor a resolution for Congress to do it, despite the foreign ownership and registration of the vessel. He recalled that Congress investigated the Titanic disaster in 1912, although the Titanic was also of British registry.

"The Vestris sailed out of an American port, carrying American citizens to their death, and I don't see why we have not the right to investigate this terrible disaster," said Senator Fletcher.

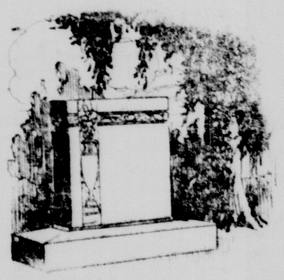

The difficulties in the way of a congressional investigation, such as summoning foreign witnesses, etc., however, are manifold.

TWO ARE KILLED; TRAINS HIT AUTOS

Ray Kubalek, 23, bricklayer, Lansing, O., was killed by a Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad train at the brilliant crossing. An unidentified man was killed by Panhandle passenger train at Jewett.

Women are underdeveloped in the sense of humor says a British observer. Maybe, but that they can take a joke is made manifest when you see the average "run-of-mill" husband.—The Ottawa, Canada, Evening Citizen.

MOTORISTS PAID FOR ROADS

THE last decade has witnessed a notable expansion and improvement of the public highway system of the nation, and in that period the federal government has contributed to this result by expending $613,993,977 on roads.

The national government has promoted road construction, but from its treasury came but a small fraction of the total funds provided from all sources for highway construction and maintenance.

Pennsylvania and Illinois have both spent more than $100,000,000 for roads since 1918. Highway appropriations of a number of states now reach high in the millions each year, and all states are spending large sums annually.

Several states owe their improvements, at least in part, to the stimulus provided by offers of federal aid. Loath to lose the federal dollars, a number of states created active highway departments and provided them with working funds. For them it was the beginning of systematic highway construction. It took their motorists and their farmers out of the mud.

The funds given to the states in the form of federal aid came from the buyers of motor vehicles and their parts. From 1918 until the automobile tax was repealed the government collected $1,100,000,000 from car and truck owners. The nation owes its good roads to the operators of motor vehicles, who consider their tax dollars well spent.

IF THE VOTERS HAD—

THOSE mathematicians whose names are If, figure it out this way:

If 350,000 votes in just the right places had swung from Hoover to Smith, then Al would be our next president.

That may be true. And Mr. If might also figure more easily other results as follows:

Had 4000 votes in 1916 been cast for Hughes in California instead of for Wilson, the former would have been president.

Had 700 votes in New York state in 1884 changed from Cleveland to Blaine, the latter would have gone to the white house.

Bryan would have been president both times McKinley beat him had about 50,000 votes been changed in the right states.

Hoover's more than 6,000,000 popular plurality, makes him one of the decisive majority presidents. In seventy years many presidents received less than half the votes.

Lincoln was distinctly a minority president. So was Hayes.

Harrison was another and so was Cleveland.

Wilson was re-elected, although he was 1,000,000 votes behind Taft and Roosevelt.

When Mr. If begins to figure election returns he may well start by quoting Whittier's threadbare lines:

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen.
The saddest are these, it might have been."

STOCK MARKET FRENZY

A NEW high record for sales was established on the New York Stock Exchange this week when 5,670,600 shares were dealt in. Orders poured in from virtually every sizable city in the United States and from some in Europe, prices soared and in some instances snapped back again, and altogether it was a time of the greatest excitement.

The prices of the stock market leaders are now generally much higher than are justified by the conservative tests of known value, assured earning power and dividend yield it is declared by authorities. Many common stocks are selling at levels which give investors a lower rate of income than may be obtained from gilt-edged bonds. These prices are based partly on value and partly on hope.

The small investor, seeking a safe place for his savings, can hardly afford to buy much hope; what he wants is certainty. The pathetic thing about these extravagant stock market movements is that so many people who cannot afford to lose their savings do lose them, in whole or in part, in the effort to increase them quickly. The man or woman who cannot afford to lose should buy value, nothing else. The reliable banker, the reliable broker, is always in a position to tell where the real value is and glad to do it.

Haste makes waste, and speed costs lives.

Lots of people worry themselves to death about keeping alive.

Among the poor that are with us always are poor magazine stories.

Pioneers in Old Age.
What Is a Bigot?
One Baby Octopus.
More Brokers; Tickers.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Among those wrecked on the ship Vestris, 400 miles from shore, were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leuhaser, both past middle age, traveling third-class, taking every dollar they had to begin life again in the Argentine.

This is the courage that has built up our western country, particularly the Pacific coast. Old people go there with their money, and descriptions they send back bring out the young people.

Prof. Bowman of the department of economics in Columbia University says this country "boasts of its religious freedom" and is cursed with bigotry. It is, and will be for some time.

There are Protestant bigots, Catholic bigots, Jewish bigots, each kind despising the other religions and sometimes making it clear.

For good measure there are Christian Scientists that think all the three religions need improvement.

A man is a "bigot" in the eyes of other religions when he takes his own religion too seriously.

Even Uncle Sam doesn't realize how big a country he owns or what its prosperity is destined to be.

A few years ago there was much excitement because "the octopus Standard Oil" had run up in value to a thousand millions. Something must be done and was done.

The octopus was cut into little pieces. One piece lives in New York, one in New Jersey, one in Indiana, one in California. And lots of other pieces without the name Standard Oil belong to the S. O. octopus family.

Now an item of financial news tells you that one of the baby octopuses, Mr. Teagle's Standard Oil of New Jersey, earned between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000 profit last year.

Big General Motors runs to many billions. A billion, no longer a scarecrow, is merely a unit of value.

Again "Wild Trading Rush Resumed in Wall Street."

Brokers can scarcely handle the business; tickers cannot handle it.

Why not add 600 seats to the exchange? That would only make 1,200 active members. Five hundred of the existing 1,100 simply own their seats and don't trade on the exchange.

Sell new seats for $500,000 each, as the demand arises for them at that price. Divide the money, as is only just, pro rata among present owners of the seats.

Then divide stocks into various classes, fast and slow, and run them on two tickers.

Each office would have two tickers and each little speculator could watch his own tape. There could be an active ticker and a dull ticker. And when an active stock turned dull it could be switched to the other ticker and the public notified.

The saddest sight reported in regions devastated by the lava flood from Mt. Etna is a father and mother carrying their dead baby to a strange cemetery. Their plot in their own graveyard was covered by lava, 200 feet deep.

The poor couple grieved because their baby could not be buried there and wondered how those already buried could get out through the lava.

Divine mercy and the angel Gabriel, fortunately, will attend to that.

New York will undertake seriously "to curb grafting in future". You read that and feel like saying with Job:

"Canst thou draw out Leviathan with an hook? Or his tongue with a cord which thou letest down?

"Canst thou put an hook in his nose? Or bore his jaw through with a thorn?"

The modern Leviathan is graft, as powerful as old Leviathan or Behemoth of Job's day. "His bones are strong pieces of brass; his bones are like bars of iron."

Graft will last until the public takes a serious interest in it. The public is too busy now.

Judging by their hair, the poetic gentlemen who talk about the simple, fundamental things don't mean barbers.

An investigator says the chief cause of theft is laziness. But sometimes it is the laziness of a certain pony.

AMERICANISM: Paying a high price for useless things because they are old; discarding useful things bought last year simply because you want shiny new ones.

American humor is mostly exaggeration. For example, Dr. Work says: "Most of the people are solvent."

In this age of realism, the story book hero never does anything surprising and improbable except say "By Gad."

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF

Speaking of newspaper style, there was the tragic case of Charlotte Lewis, a bright young lass, who used to read copy on William Allen White's Emporia (Kan.) Gazette, and who now picks budding geniuses from manuscripts submitted to a New York literary agency.

Miss Lewis used to divide her time between the Gazette and a paper in Aransas Pass, Tex. Kansas copy readers make it "woman" (except in police court cases, where the style book sanctioned "lady") and called a leg a leg. The Aransas Pass paper more chivalrously used "lady" except when the subject became a woman through being johnlawed, and referred to the femme shaft (when absolutely necessary as in accident stories) as a "limb". Thereby causing an otherwise swell copy reader to go positively nuts for about four weeks each year with the result that in the files of the Gazette there is carefully preserved an item concerning the leg of a locally renowned tree, blown off during the weekly high wind.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AN INDUSTRIAL HERO

There died the other day in London a man who set on foot a revolution and who lived to see the revolution succeed. It was an industrial revolution, a bloodless revolution which left no trail of misery, but which added to human comfort and happiness.

The man was Sir Henry Alexander Wickham and the revolution was in rubber. It was he who first brought with great difficulty and in the face of Brazilian Government opposition the seeds of wild rubber from the upper reaches of the Amazon to Kew Gardens in London. There 70,000 rubber plants were soon growing and from them sprang the whole British and Dutch Indies rubber industry.

It is hard to vision the change that this man saw in his lifetime and as a result largely of his far-sightedness. In 1905 the world produced less than 60,000 tons of rubber; in 1927 it produced more than 600,000 tons. In 1905 nearly all the rubber was still wild grown; in 1927 more than 90 per cent of it was a cultivated crop. In fact it was only in 1914 that plantation rubber passed the wild variety and of our 600,000 tons of rubber nearly 90 per cent goes into automobile tires.

It was in 1876 that Sir Henry set on foot the cultivated rubber industry. A great year that, the year of the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia when crowds flocked to see a Corliss engine of 1,400 horsepower! Elsewhere at the Centennial the telephone was shown and some folks went to see it. It was in that year, too, that Dr. Otto of Cologne invented an engine in which gas was compressed before it was exploded.

A great year but who then saw Wickham's work with rubber, Otto's with the gas engine and Bell's with the telephone were to make over the world?

The world has paid scant honor to Henry Alexander Wickham though it was he who made it possible for us to ride on a soft elastic pavement and to carry the pavement with us.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery California must be gasping at the effusiveness of the flattery Florida has handed out to her by coming over to join her in the Republican fold.—The Lynchburg News.

World Watches With Interest Peasant Regime In Roumania

Novel Political Experiment Follows Overthrow of the Bratianus, Who Rulled The Country For Three Generations

Roumania's new government is being watched with interest by the rest of the world. The bloodless overthrow of the Bratianu regime and the substitution of the rule of the Peasant party under the leadership of Premier Maniu is regarded as an unprecedented experiment in modern European politics.

"For the first time in generations the Bratianus are not the ruling force in Roumania," says the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD, with the explanation that the peasants' interests "have never received the slightest consideration from the Bratianu group, who, through three generations, have acted upon the theory that the government could be used by it for the exploitation of the mass of the people." The Evening World adds that "the fact that the regency insisted on the resignation of Vintilla Bratianu, even after he first refused, measures the intensity of the dissatisfaction."

Pointing out that "80 per cent of the population is peasant," the COLUMBUS EVENING DISPATCH states that "lacking adequate leadership, this vast mass has been compelled to bow before a government that, while efficient, has been autocratic and despotic in its dealing with them. Europe, by the new turn of events," continues The Dispatch, "undoubtedly will witness an interesting and novel political experiment, as the unsophisticated but earnest and conscientious peasants take the reins. Maniu promises Roumania 'an administration patterned on the enlightened lines of the United States' and one that will insure 'honesty in government, free elections, abolition of graft, untrammeled opportunity for domestic and foreign capital and equality for every citizen.' All will hope that these promises may be realized."

The strength of Maniu is attested by the NEW YORK SUN, which remembers the incident "when the peasant chief led his peasant host to Bucharest and when he organized a vast congress of malcontents in Transylvania last April. Maniu preached the doctrine of a modified passive resistance," adds The Sun; "he permitted no violence and he refused all compromises with the Bratianu government. He argued that the rebuffs which Vintilla received in foreign countries were observed and that Roumania must build up a sense of national responsibility if it is to deal with the rest of the world. Roumania's population and area have more than doubled since the World war. Maniu represents this new element."

Emphasizing the direct effect on the Bratianu power of the movement among the peasants, the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE advises that "this ascendancy of the agrarian element in Roumanian politics is not without its significance. The Gazette recalls that 'it was not so many months ago that some 200,000 peasants, after a long and spectacular march across country, assembled in the ancient town of Alba Julia and formally placed their demands before the regency.' Although 'the regency refused to be moved by their demonstration,' The Gazette believes that 'Bratianu never again held the degree of strength that had been his before the Alba Julia incident.'"

Observing that Maniu "has announced that whatever may be his views regarding the regency, they do not involve the return of Crown Prince Carol to Roumania," the MANCHESTER UNION declares, nevertheless: "It is known that Carol has long been a favorite of the Peasants' party and it is not improbable that as time goes on the sentiment in favor of his return may grow. With affairs as unsettled as they are, the position of the present regency is apt to become increasingly unstable, and if public sentiment be aroused, it would be likely to take the form of a demand for Carol's return. The present regency was a creation of the Bratianus. If it proves to be impartial in the partisan struggle, if it can avoid action liable to arouse the hostility of the new government, it may be continued, but otherwise its removal is inevitable."

The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL agrees that "the fall of Vintilla Bratianu as dictator may involve the fate of the Hohenzollern dynasty that he and his brother have long upheld," and adds that "the seven-year-old King Michael may never mount the throne in his own right"; that "like his father, the exiled crown prince, he may cease to be a factor in the affairs of his country." The Courier-Journal thinks "the peasants hold the answer to the question, as also to the problem of what shall be done to put the country on the road to progress." That paper concludes: "There is, however, a fertile field for reform in Roumania and the question of monarchy or republic just now is a secondary problem."

"If Maniu is sincere in his profession that he wishes to see American ideals practiced in his country," advises the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL, "he will endeavor to bridge the gulf that has for so many years separated the agrarian and non-agrarian classes. This separation is the primary cause of the country's political agitation and frequent ministerial crises. Roumania's problem, in short, is one of bringing about cooperation between two constantly warring groups. The agrarian group, however, is loosely organized, politically speaking, and therefore has never been able to muster political strength proportionate to its numbers."

"Transylvania, although largely Roumanian in blood," according to the MUSKEGON CHRONICLE, "had been a part of the great Austro-Hungarian empire for generations, and as such accustomed to a form of government infinitely more modern and efficient than the archaic Roumanian rule of the Bratianus. That is why it has allied itself with Peasant party, because the Peasant party was against the government. It was on the point of resort to force had not the regency intervened. There will be trouble and turmoil ahead, but the outlook is promising for a better order eventually."

TURN TO THE BEES

To find a real civilization George Bernard Shaw says we must turn to the bees and ants. They live in a civilized country. Even in the ant and bee country it is doubtful, Shaw thinks, whether every insect really knows what it's all about. Probably most of them are just working under orders, like human beings.

Human beings work under all sorts of orders. Most of the instructions come from our instincts. Few have a clear picture of the universe and its workings. Few have even an intelligent theory of the world and life and the plan of existence.

A NEW GLASS WORLD

Few things more interesting in the industrial realm than the change in glass. In a few years we have seen cut glass go almost out of use and all sorts of interesting varieties come into use. Now E. C. Baly, professor of chemistry in Liverpool, England, announces an unbreakable glass. It is not merely non-shatterable, it is non-breakable. It can be molded to any form and turned like a piece of wood.

It is still much to early to lock up the patent office.

UNSEEN STEPS

A young man in a neighboring city a few days ago was a guard in the criminal courts building. Today he is a lawyer and an assistant state's attorney. Looks like quick overnight work. Looks like a pull. But we don't see the steps by which men rise. They are often hidden steps. They are toilfully climbed through the years. This young man had been studying law by nights and working at a common job by day. He sensed the capacity of his own mind. He put it to work. He used what he had. He made himself productive—mostly by not being lazy.

DE-BUNKING

A modern movement which ought to have our close attention is the de-bunking movement. There is so much of interesting, snappy, startling, attractive statement that passes for truth. We hear things, say things, believe things that simply aren't so. One reason we believe them is that we like to think they are true. Another reason we believe some things is that we fear they are true, and haven't interest enough to look up the facts.

All kinds of false ideas, for example, are spread about the effect of eating meat or not eating meat; eating white bread or not eating white bread; all sorts of theories about tobacco and exercise. There are strange and interesting theories to cover all our waking activity. Let's be broad-minded enough to listen to everything. Let's be discriminating enough not to believe everything.

Let's de-bunk ourselves.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

EDWIN PARKHAM AT PELLETIER'S

We called him down from toil and said:
"Oh kindly poet, young, though gray,
Feed us who hunger so for bread
Strengthen our souls to brave the day."
And Edwin Markham smiled and read
A thousand sordid doubts away.

Autumn at Pelletier's! The trees
Aglow with purple, scarlet, gold
And Markham, just as brave as these,
As straight and true, perhaps as old
Fingering leaves we dared to seize
Leaves upon which his dreams were scrolled!

There the gray poet stood and gave
The gems our passing fancy sought,
We were the breezes born to crave
At autumn time his leaves of thought.
He was the tree erect and brave
Giving us all his life had wrought.

Oh, Edwin Markham, such a day
As that again may never be!
Outside a world in glad array,
Within, a poet, like a tree
Giving his lovely leaves away
To comfort weary men like me.

Three Pennsylvanians Believed Ship Victims

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Three Pennsylvanians were victims of the grim tragedy of the sea—the sinking of the steamer Vestris—as the final chapters in the disaster were written as the death roll. Three Pennsylvanians are numbered among the survivors.

The latest revised passenger list shows Mrs. Margaret A. Daugherty of Philadelphia, V. Murri of Philadelphia, and Genaro Panziotto of Pittsburgh among those unaccounted for. Mrs. C. K. Raphael, wife of a former Wilkes-Barre man, also is among the missing.

Earl R. De Vore, famous Los Angeles race driver, and husband of an Altoona, Pa., woman, is also missing. Mrs. De Vore was rescued.

Harry Fay, Charleroi boxer who was enroute to South America to arrange for a bout with Louis Firpo was rescued by the French tanker Myriam which docked today. Gaetano Abbadin of Philadelphia was among the survivors picked up from the sea by the North German Lloyd liner, Berlin.

It is anticipated that there will be a record attendance of the members of the Sons of Veterans and their auxiliary, as well as of the groups invited, in attendance at this event.

U. S. FEDERAL ATTORNEY SEEKS SINKING FACTS

4. Were the officers of the Vestris guilty of callous indifference?

5. Did the crew, as a whole, look out for itself at the expense of the passengers?

6. Were the lifeboats in bad condition?

7. Did the Vestris leave its port in New York listing somewhat and not in the best of condition for a sea voyage?

Round Up Witnesses

United States Attorney Tuttle designated his assistants to round up witnesses today "to fix the responsibility and perpetuate the facts". It was not long after the investigation was started that one of Tuttle's assistants, Edward Silver, declared that murder charges would be in order if some of the stories related by survivors concerning the conduct of the crew were substantiated.

Heavy prison sentences could be given, under federal law, to any convicted of negligent operation of passenger steamships, Silver said.

Officials of Sanderson and company, local representatives of the Lamport and Holt line, operators of The Vestris, were reluctant to make any comment upon the bitter charges made by the survivors.

"What about these charges?" reporters asked David Cook, vice president.

Officers Withhold Answers

"The officers will answer them at the inquiry this afternoon," he replied.

The result of Tuttle's inquiry is to be presented at 2 o'clock this afternoon before United States Commissioner O'Neill.

"Will your company be represented at the hearing?" Cook was asked.

"Yes."

"Why wasn't the S. O. S. sent out sooner?"

"The officers will answer that."

"Was the ship unfit to be put to sea?"

"It was inspected three days before it went out."

Cook said The Vestris was "in perfect trim" when it left port. He denied the ship was listing.

Subpoenaes were served on officials of the Lamport and Holt line; officials of the Federal Steamboat Inspection service, which gave The Vestris a clean bill when she left port, and survivors of the disaster.

Considerable difficulty was experienced by deputy U. S. marshals in attempting to serve a subpoena on Frank W. Johnson, chief officer of The Vestris, and other officers, all of whom were quartered in the Holley Hotel. They were told Johnson was resting and could not be disturbed. Upon finally making their way into Johnson's room they found it was empty. They learned that Johnson had been in conference with attorneys of the Lamport and Holt line.

Charge Cowardice

The federal inquiry this afternoon was to probe into charges made by survivors that the loss of life due to the bugling of the captain, faulty lifesaving equipment, and cowardice and inefficiency on the part of the crew.

Some of the survivors charged the disaster was "plain murder".

United States Commissioner O'Neill, will preside and the machinery of the law will function under the direction of United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle. Indications are that the probe may drag on for weeks, for it was announced that each of the 210 survivors would be called to tell his story before the tribunal of investigation.

Galaxy Of Childrens Books Is On Display At Library

Perhaps the most prized of the children's books now on display at the New Castle Public Library this week in connection with National Book Week is a signed copy of Dhan Gopel Mukerji's "Gay Neck," the Newberry Prize book which belongs to a member of the library staff.

This book, of especial interest to children, along with many others will be found in the exhibit room on the second floor of the library building. Mr. Mukerji, it will be remembered, along with his quaint children's books, is also the author of "A Son of Mother India Answers," in reply to the famous "Mother India" by Katherine Mayo.

Another new book by Mukerji, published after the Newberry prize book is also on display among the children's books. It is "Ghand', The Hunter," and is especially well written.

"The House at Pooh Corner," another of the inimitable A. A. Milne books is still another noted work contained in the collection. Milne, it will be remembered, wrote "When We Were Very Young" and "Now We Are Six." This book is also illustrated by Shepard, a noted British artists, whose "Christopher Robin" is among the finest child types yet created.

Then, for children who are a trifle older, and for all those people who find interest in the career of Abraham Lincoln, the library has included "Abe Lincoln Grows Up," a re-written version of "Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years" by Carl Sandburg.

"Dr. Doolittle In The Moon" by Hugh Lofting is another title which should prove of interest as should "Martin Pippin in the Apple Orchard" by Eleanor Farjeon, a book intended for adolescents.

For children who like stories of adventure and the great out doors, the library has included in the exhibit "A Tenderfoot With Peary" by George Borup and "The Rise of the Red Adlers" by Lou Rogers. "The Exciting Adventures of Captain John Smith" by Vernon Quinn and "Stowaway" edited by Wilhelmina Harper, also should prove of interest.

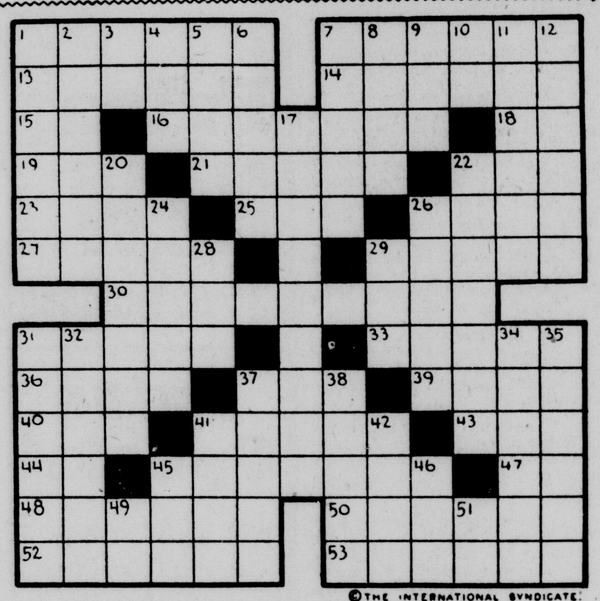

"The Dryad and His Hired Boy" by Ethel Cook Eliot, "The Disappearance of Ann Shaw by Augusta H. Seaman and "Wonder Tales from Baltic Wizards" by Frances J. Olcott, are also included in the display.

Supplementing the exhibit, a map of the world of childrens books was hung in the exhibit room this morning. It shows the geographical location of many famous childrens stories, and is interesting as well as instructive.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

BOBOLINK TELLS HIS LAST TALE

"Well, when you had left Cormorant behind on the buoy, what did you do then, where did you go, and whom did you see?" asked Peter. Bobolink chuckled again and his mate did, too, as if they had a joke just between themselves. They had, but it didn't strike Peter or the bunnies one bit funny.

"Don't think us rude, but we are going to follow Cormorant's example and take a nap, Boy," announced Bobolink. "As he would say, we are tired of talking about ourselves—honestly, my voice is hoarse and wife says she couldn't say another word if she tried.

"Besides, we have told you all that we can think of. All the rest that you learn about birdland you will have to find out from other birds than the Bobolinks."

Without another word Bobolink tucked his head under his wing and went to sleep and his little wife followed his example.

Peter and the rabbits were so surprised at what Mr. and Mrs. Bobolink had done that for a moment they could find nothing to say. Then Peter found his tongue.

"Well, the very idea of those two birds going to sleep right in front of us!" cried he. "I must say I don't think that they are very polite!"

"Polite! Of course they are not. But what could you expect from a couple of birds who have spent all their lives—or most of them, anyhow—in this old clover meadow? You don't learn manners sticking around here. You have to travel to do that!" Sonny-Bunny gave his opinion with a very dissatisfied air. His mother reproved him.

"WELL, THE VERY IDEA OF THOSE TWO BIRDS GOING TO SLEEP RIGHT IN FRONT OF US."

"But the Bobolinks have traveled and traveled far, my son. Haven't they just been telling you the story of their adventures?" said she. "So you are wrong there. One can learn to be polite in this old clover meadow quite as well as anywhere else if one really wants to.

"Besides, I think that it is most ungrateful of us to call Bobolinks rude. What if they are napping off now? Haven't they spent almost the entire afternoon in telling us stories? I dare say that they would far rather have been doing something else. I haven't a bit of doubt but that Bobolink's throat is worn out—mine would have been long before this. And why should Mrs. Bobolink try to keep awake when her mate has gone to sleep? I, for one, am very thankful to the Bobolinks for making our afternoon so interesting."

Stomach Trouble Caused By Acidity

A Safe, Speedy, Lasting Relief From Acid Indigestion

Stomach troubles, gas, indigestion, bloating and sourness are in probably nine cases in ten caused by "too much acid" in the stomach. For safe, quick, certain relief, the stomach needs an alkaline to neutralize the acid, sweeten its food contents, and make digestion easy and painless.

A wonderful help in such cases is Bisurated Magnesia—powder or tablets. One teaspoonful of powder or three or four tablets in a little water instantly neutralizes the excess stomach acid and so speedily stops the pain, sourness, gas and bloating.

Bisurated Magnesia is the standard Magnesia treatment for Acid Stomach purposes, because it is so pleasant and convenient to use and gives such wonderfully quick results that McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and druggists everywhere sell it on a positive guarantee of satisfactory results or money back. Try a test package on this plan, and enjoy your future meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Special Session Of Congress Will Discuss Textiles

Senator Reed Believes That Hoover Will Call Session On Coal

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15. — The coal and textile industries as well as agriculture will be given special attention in the extra session of Congress to be called by President-elect Herbert Hoover after his inauguration March 4, Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh believes. The Senator is confident that Hoover will call a special session.

Senator Reed does not believe there will be a general revision of the tariff, but opines there will be a general revision of schedules affecting industries suffering from European competition.

"Pennsylvania anthracite is falling off because of imports of a semi-anthracite coal from Wales, Senator Reed states.

"Another sad example is the textile industry. New England is not the only section whose textile mills need assistance. Pennsylvania is suffering equally from foreign competition," the Senator says.

Cement, pig iron, and the window and plate glass industries are also suffering from foreign competition, according to Senator Reed.

Stewart Counsel Loses Objection

Stewart's Testimony Before Senate Oil Committee Introduced In Perjury Trial

ALLEGE UNTRUTHS REGARDING BONDS

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, Standard Oil magnate, lost a round today in his trial for perjury when Justice Jennings Bailey permitted District Attorney Leo Rover to lay before the jury all of Stewart's testimony before the senate oil committee last April.

Defense counsel had objected vigorously.

The oil man told the senate committee in February he had "never personally received" a single bond from the Continental Trading Company, nor "made a single dollar."

Received $759,500.

Subsequently, it developed he had received $759,500 in bonds and in April Stewart reappeared before the committee with an explanation of the transaction. Upon this alleged diversion in testimony the perjury indictment was based.

According to the April testimony, as read to the jury today, Stewart admitted to the committee on his final appearance that he had been advised he was to receive a large slice of the profits of the company that figured so prominently in the oil scandals. Feeling he had no personal right to them, Stewart had placed them in trust to accrue to the Standard Oil Company of Indiana upon his death, interest and all. In this way he had sought to justify his original statement to the committee.

POUR CONCRETE AT NEW CHURCH

Water Proofed Walls Are Being Poured; Contractor To Hurry Work

Workmen are starting to pour the concrete walls at the site of the new First United Presbyterian church at the corner of Albert street and Clenmore boulevard, according to a statement made this morning by J. Clyde Gilfillan, the contractor in charge of construction.

In the walls of the new church a special water proofed cement is being used, which, declares Mr. Gilfillan, is the best that is available.

All efforts are being made to erect the church as speedily as possible so that the congregation can be assured of being in their new home at an early date. The old church, it will be remembered, was destroyed by fire last New Year's eve.

As yet no statement is forthcoming from Mr. Gilfillan concerning the former site of the church on North Jefferson street. A building will be erected on the site at a cost of $65,000, it is understood, the building permit having been issued more than a month ago.

Miner Is Slain At Hazelton, Pa.

Coal Miner Shot And Killed In Central Section Of Hazelton Today

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 15.—A miner was shot down in the central region of Hazleton early today, furnishing Luzerne county authorities with the second mine murder within 12 hours. State police, county detectives and Hazleton police immediately began a search for the slayer.

A shotgun was used in the slaying, two barrels evidently being discharged. The slayer, authorities believe, ambushed the man, who was on his way to work.

From the condition of the body, it was apparent that the miner struggled with the assailant despite the fact he was shot. It is believed the slayer used the butt of his gun to club him. The man's skull was fractured.

Police believe that union differences were responsible for the shooting as none of the victim's belongings were disturbed.

No man reaches the end of his rope until it burns his nose.

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Nov. 15.—Miss Mary McLaughlin had charge of last week's chapel program. Using the talent of the junior high school she presented an Armistice day program that brought back the spirit of 1918.

After the orchestra had played an opening number the assembly sang the songs that were popular ten years ago.

Under Joe Martin's direction the assembly sang "K-Katy," "Till We Meet Again," "Long Boy" and "How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning." Kipling's 'Recessional' was recited by Eleanor Throop.

Following the reading a quartet composed of Marcella Macklin, Mildred Carlson, Elvira Kantanen and Ruth Davis sang "Memories of France" and "Jeanette I Dream of Lilac Time."

Viola Swanson gave the poem "In Flanders Field" followed by "America's Answer" recited by Florence Loghry.

The high schol orchestra then played "The White Queen Overture," after which the play "Uncle Sam's Best" was presented.

The cast of characters was: Uncle Sam, James, Kanongiesser; Sammy, Keneth Young; doughboy, Sherman Sweetapple; Jack Tar, Glen Stanley, Nurse, Margaret Irvin; Mother, Sophie Rebish; Tobe Tinker, Carl Nelson; Farmer, Fred Steltzer, Society Woman, Twila Grocc; Aunt Lettie, Ellen Yarvin; School Children, Percy Griffin and Edith Rowe.

After Sammy had awarded the medals to the satisfaction of everyone the cast sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless. Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

Wealthy Chester Man Meets Death, Struck By Train

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 15.—Paralyzed with fright William J. Oglesby, 75-year-old wealthy land owner, was crushed to death by a southbound Pennsylvania railroad express train at the Eddystone trestle near here Wednesday.

The body was mangled beyond recognition and hurled to the roadway 25 feet below.

The aged man was taking his daily walk when he was caught on the trestle, eye witnesses said. Two men who realized his plight called to him but when he looked up and saw the approaching train he became paralyzed with fear. The train speeding at 50 miles an hour in an effort to make up 30 minutes of lost time was unable to come to a stop.

Oglesby is survived by two sons, Robert and Samuel, and his widow.

Robert is the Oglesby who is famous in Princeton football history of a quarter of a century ago. He was also noted as a great oarsman while a student at Pennsylvania.

New Castle Student Was Head Steward At Hotel Astor For Day

Emmet Shanley, former assistant steward at The Castleton, and now a student in hotel management at Cornell University, who is well known in this city had the distinction of being head steward at the Hotel Astor for one day during the past week.

Shanley, with a score of other members of his class at Cornell, took the Astor house by storm one entire day and assumed the management for 24 hours. Shanley's lot was that of steward.

In the hotel management class, the students get everything from butchering cattle to waiting on tables at tea parties. Every phase of hotel keeping and management is studied and actually done prior to graduation from the school by each student.

The work at the Astor Hotel was but a part of the day's class room assignment.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanley are now living in Ithaca, N. Y. Prior to September 1, they resided on East Falls street, this city.

"Now! I am right—"

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

"FORTUNATELY, I found myself in time. I was going down! down! down! I didn't want to eat; there was no desire for it. My muscles were getting flabby—I tired easily. Many a morning I would get up after a sleepless night feeling that I could hardly pull through the day. I was also troubled with those annoying so-called skin troubles. Then, one day a friend urged me to give S.S.S. a trial. Before finishing the first bottle, I could see I was improving. That was only a few weeks ago. Today I feel more like myself than I have in years."

Loss of appetite is only a symptom

It is a known fact that when one's system gets "run-down," they haven't the resistance to ward off disease. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red, blood builds and sustains

Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of an insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that nourish and sustain the body.

When you get your red blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong; and your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. proven record over 100 years

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefit in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Made only from the fresh vegetable drugs gathered at the proper season of the year, S.S.S. gives to Nature what she needs in making you yourself again.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 14. — Pennsylvania will rank fourth of the states in the crop of grapes harvested during the present year, crop economics experts of the department of agriculture believe.

A total of 22,680 tons of grapes will be gathered from the vineyards of the Keystone state this year, the agricultural department forecasts. The crop will surpass the 1927 crop by 7,830 tons and will show an increase of 3,172 over the yearly average for the period of 1922-26.

The 1928 crop will comprise 84 per cent of a possible full crop, officials of the department state.

New York will rank first of the states in the 1928 production of grapes with Michigan coming second, Ohio third and Pennsylvania fourth, according to the report.

Almost 33 Millions Bushels Of Potatoes Will Be Harvested

Pennsylvania To Have Largest Crop In Her History This Fall

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Unless unforeseen conditions arise, the 1928 potato crop in Pennsylvania will surpass any crop of recent years, the department of agriculture announces in a forecast made by the bureau of agricultural economics.

Officials of the department see a crop of 32,630,000 bushels gathered in the state this year as compared with 26,400,00 bushels harvested last year and a yearly average crop of 25,076,000 bushels for the period of 1922-26.

Maine will lead the country in the production of potatoes in 1928, with Minnesota following second, Michigan third, Connecticut fourth and the Keystone state fifth.

Not only will the Pennsylvania crop be greater in quantity but it will be approximately one per cent better in quality than last year's crop, according to the agricultural department.

GARDNER

Last Sunday when four year old David Robison, of Gardner, was on his way home from Sunday school, a strange dog bit him on the arm. The dog had tried to jump in at an open window at the Walker home, when the window was closed he ran out to the walk, among the children who were going home. Mr. Walker shot twice at the dog and may have injured him so that he died later as several men scoured the village and woods all afternoon but could find no trace of the dog. Medical aid was called at once and his wound is healing.

Last Thursday five former neighbors of Mrs. Wade Chapman of Gardner, came out from Morton street in New Castle, for a tureen luncheon at the Chapman home. The ladies had a delicious lunch which Mrs. Burrows assisted Mrs. Chapman in serving. Sewing and chat were the afternoon pastimes. Those present were:—Mrs. David T. McConahy, Mrs. Elder Bryan, Mrs. Bart H. Mullen, Mrs. C. C. Coulthard, Mrs. Paul Burrows, Mrs. Wade Chapman and daughter, Helen.

Mrs. Sophia Zeigler of the Butler road, is a guest for a few weeks at the home of her grand-daughter, and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore and children of Gardner. Last week Mrs. Moore's mother, Mrs. Sidney Zeigler, and Mrs. John Moore of East Brook, spent a day at the Moore home.

H. L. Wood of Albion, Pa., was a guest for a couple of days recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dickson at Gardner.

We were all sorry last Friday to see the King family, Mrs. M. J. King, her son, R. L. King, and Mrs. King and little daughter, Shirley Louise, all moving to Pittsburgh, where they had lived so many years, and Mr. King has been employed there for some time.

Mrs. Maude Croup of Princeton, spent Monday night in Gardner, at the home of her sister at the Robb home.

Mrs. Wimer and Jack and Bobby, are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Wimer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkwood of Gardner.

Mrs. Walter Scott of New Castle, spent last Sunday at Gardner the guest of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore of Gardner, went last Sunday to see their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samson Deemer, of Ellwood City.

Mrs. Harold Currie of Wayne Stop, is in the New Castle hospital for the removal of gall stones. Her brother, Sergeant Percy Knight and Mrs. Knight of Gardner, have been assisting Mr. Currie in caring for the infant daughter. Mrs. Currie is recovering nicely.

Mrs. Harlan of Gardner, spent a couple of days at Harlansburg with Miss Julia Harlan who has been very ill but is now recovering.

Next Sunday afternoon at the East New Castle Mission, Mrs. Comstock of Gardner, will recite a monologue, "The Voice Of Conscience." This will be interspersed by Scripture verses, and hymns sung by Mrs. Harlan. The colored quartet of New Castle will sing a number of selections.

J. N. McCandless of New Castle, spent Wednesday at Gardner at the first house on the ash lane, making some repairs on the house which he built many years ago, and which was the home of himself and family for some time.

Mrs. Griffith of Butler, spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of the Ellwood road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ripper of Evans City, spent a couple of days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. King, of Shenango Stop.

Mr. and Mrs. King went to Zelienople last Sunday to see relatives.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Druggists.

Acquarium At Senior High

Many Interesting Specimens Are Seen In New School Exhibition

Equipment and materials have been renovated and many new specimens of physiological nature have been acquired at the Biology Department of the Senior High School according to an announcement made today by Prof. Nicholas R. Casillo, head of the Biology department.

The new 60 gallon aquarium now contains 75 native fish embracing 13 different kinds. Besides this there are three aquariums containing various kinds of tropical fish; the most interesting, perhaps, being the Mexican Guppy.

Among some of the more interesting museum specimens are the Bounthead Shark, young man-eating shark, lobster, devilfish, fifty kinds of shell fish, and a few fossils. The collection of cultivated flowers is a large one. An electric heat plant being used to provide for their keep.

The aquarium besides containing the different types of fish also contains in an exhibition case of several other interesting things. One a person would probably gaze at on entering would be the human skull of an adult which is some 15 or 20 years old. Another noticeable thing is the Pea Fowel which is a domestic bird. It is the size of a chicken, has beautiful feathers which extend to a distance of over eight feet wide and about six feet in height. The vertibrae of a whale is also very interesting to view. Besides all these spectacular speciments there are many other things too numerous to mention.

Both Mr. Casillo and Mr. Black have divided the work for the students into two sections over the space of a year. Zoological Biology being stressed the first half of the year's work with the other half being spent on physiological biology.

PLANS TO MOVE M'KINLEY HOME

CANTON, O., Nov. 15.—Moving of the William McKinley homestead from the front porch of which a campaign of the presidency of the United States was waged will be the first step in the expansion program announced today by officials of Mercy hospital.

The historic house for many years has been used as an annex to the hospital.

A campaign to raise $350,000 for a new building and for remodeling the building now in use will be launched December 4 by a committee of 100 representative citizens.

Improvements of facilities was made necessary by heavy demands on the hospital which accommodated 753 patients in 1911 and 2,989 last year with no increase in physical equipment.

The Hospital association has given the McKinley homestead to the Canton Chapter of the Civitan club. The club now is making arrangements to move the home to a spot near the McKinley monument where it is to be held as a national shrine. Efforts are being made to get together the original McKinley furnishings.

A small piece of adhesive tape applied to the part of the foot irritated by a new shoe will prevent a blister forming.

Terribly Weak And Almost A Nervous Wreck

Lady Was Victim Of Several Ailments; Says Ten Herbs Gave Blessed Relief.

"I hardly know how to put in words all that I want to say in praise of Ten Herbs, because when I started taking it I was on the verge of being a nervous wreck," was the recent statement of Mrs. Freda Houseroth, 439 Duquesne Way, Pittsburgh, Pa., according to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this celebrated natural medicine to crowds of people.

MRS. FREDA HOUSEROTH

"I was terribly weak and run-down, and the least thing would excite me," Mrs. Houseroth continued. "I was irritable, and my nerves were so unstrung that I would roll and toss by the hour before I could sleep. I had indigestion so badly that at times I could not retain the lightest food. After eating, gas would form and I would become nauseated—often I would vomit. I was always constipated, and this gave me terrible headaches. Dizzy spells came on me, and my eyes would become so blurred that I could hardly see.

"I had just about given up hope of getting well when my brother-in-law induced me to try Ten Herbs. Before I had finished the second bottle, I noticed a great change taking place within me. My appetite improved, and I could enjoy my meals without having any bad after-effects, as food seemed to digest properly, and I was free of gas and that nauseated feeling. Constipation was relieved, and terrible headaches and dizzy spells disappeared. Ten Herbs seemed to tone up and strengthen my whole system. My nerves are one hundred per cent. better, and I get sound restful sleep. I have gained in weight, and feel better in every way. I can truthfully say that in my case Ten Herbs did even more than is claimed for it, and therefore I can conscientiously recommend your medicine to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Basketball Next In Athletics At Mahoning School

Football Season Ended; Other News Notes Of The Seventh Ward

Basketball will be the next in Athletics at Mahoning School. The football season for Mahoning School team ended with the game played last Friday with Ben Franklin.

The Mahoning School Junior High Football team played four games this year. Two games with the George Washington Junior High team and two with Ben Franklin team. The local team did well this year, the boys on the team learned a lot in this sport from Coach Morgan. The team at Mahoning School is always handicapped. There is only a small number of the larger boys to pick a team of players from and the team had no regular sized football field to practice on, all practicing being done on the school playground.

But even at that the Mahoning team was good, no high scores being run on them by the other Junior High teams. George Washington team defeated Mahoning in two games, scores 14-0 and 24-7; Ben Franklin defeated them, scores, 13-12 and 6-0.

Basketball will be the next in athletics at the school, but basketball will not be started until after the Thanksgiving vacation.

During the lull in athletics Mahoning school pupils are busy practicing for the Minstrel show they will give the last of this month.

To Start Work On Store Building In New Wilmington

Building Will Be Located On Diamond; Other News Notes Of Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 15.—Having let the contract, work will be started at once on a new store building in the college town. This structure is being put up by Fred Williamson and will front 26 feet on the North Market street diamond and 120 feet on East Neshannock avenue, which will place it in the center of the town.

The structure will be erected with tapestry brick and trimmed in stone. On the outside, the store will be trimmed with red gum wood and will have a store space exceeding that of any merchant establishment in the town.

The entrance to the new store will be at the southwest corner and will be flanked on each side by 21 feet of show window space. A vapor heating plant will be installed.

R. R. Cummings is arranging to go on a hunting trip in Potter county either today or tomorrow. Mr. Cummings and some friends intend to stalk big game on their expedition.

BOY SCOUT Activities

ROTARY TROOP

Rotary troop one held a very interesting meeting Tuesday evening at the Rose avenue school with Scoutmaster Ray Hall and Assistant Scoutmaster Lewis West in charge. A very impressive ceremony was conducted under the direction of Senior Patrol Leader Jack Ball, when the following new boys were taken into the troop: Sam Hays, Howard Smith, Jim Brisbin, Arthur Lindsly, Victor Zuchowski, David Price and Thomas H. Jones. Thomas Gilkey, troop committeeman, was present and presented the new Scouts with tenderfoot badges and certificates. Scout Executive Calahan was also present and spoke to the boys on the coming activities of the council and taught them some new games. This troop went on record last evening to participate in all the activities of the fall and winter months. A basketball game was played after the meeting and Scoutmaster Hall is choosing a basketball team to represent this troop in inter-troop contests in basketball this fall. This troop will be ready in a very short time to challenge any Boy Scout troop in Lawrence county council to a basketball game.

GIMMO-GASH ORGANIZATION

The first fall initiation of the Gimmo-Gash Society will be held at the Charles McConnell memorial cabin in the very near future. A number of applications are already in at Scout headquarters to join this organization. Any Scout in Lawrence county who is 15 years of age and has five merit badges is eligible to become a member.

Officers of the Gimmo-Gash Society will meet Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, at Scout headquarters to make plans for the winter program. This organization will meet weeky. A number of parties, banquets and outdoor activities will be sponsored by the Gimmo-Gash Society.

Scoutmasters have application blanks, and Scouts who are eligible to join should get in touch with their scoutmaster.

COMMITTEE MEETING

The following committee: Leroy Norton, Rev. Charbonnier, Ray Hall, Fred Wilkes, Jack Grittie, John Thomas, Guy Raney, Sidney Smith, W. G. Ayres, Peter Grittie, Sidney Smith, Howard Bott and Edward G. Bollard, will meet Thursday evening at Scout headquarters at 7:30 to make plans for the big outdoor Scout meet; also for a first aid contest which will take in all of Lawrence county. Plans will be drawn up for the Scout circus and the Scouts and fathers banquet.

It is the desire of Executive Calahan that each member of the committee be present to complete the plans to be presented at the Scout leaders meeting at Scout headquarters Monday evening, Nov. 19, at 7:30.

VISITS TROOPS

Scout Executive Calahan is now making his annual visits to the troops and visited the First Presbyterian church troop on Wednesday evening of this week. On Friday evening he will meet with Rotary troop two at Ben Franklin school and will visit the other troops in rotation.

HIGHLAND TROOP 18

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, the Highland church troop 18 held their regular meeting. There was a large attendance. Scoutmaster R. F. Davis presided and was assisted by Assistant Scoutmaster Bott. Committeeman T. C. Boston was present.

The honor of conducting the opening exercises was given to Robert Bishop. Scoutmaster Davis has instituted a new idea. This is to have the Scouts take charge of the opening exercises and by doing this each Scout takes the leadership and responsibility which many boys seldom get.

The troop was instructed in observation and making measurements; also a quiz on the Scout laws and first aid was given. As a whole the troop did very well in the quiz.

Arrangements were made for making Scouts Howard Gates and Robert Bishop Junior assistant scoutmasters. The Scouts were instructed to give their applications to the Scout office.

At the next meeting the troop will hold another session for target practice. The meeting was adjourned with taps.

JACK STEVENSON.

FIRST CHRISTIAN

First Christian troop 15 held their regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 13 at 7:30 p. m. in the First Christian church. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and Assistant George McCracken and Senior Patrol Leader Oscar Patton. Committeeman Mr. Young was also present.

As each boy entered the Scout room he had to answer a question on scouting. The meeting was in form of a limelight. The troop has another new assistant scoutmaster, McCoy. The meeting was very interesting and instructive. The Scouts were asked questions on scouting and tests were passed. Howard Hart passed nature study.

This troop will meet Saturday at nine a. m. in the rear of the courthouse and under the leadership of Mr. Young will go through the county jail.

An initiation was planned for the new assistant scoutmaster. The initiation committee is composed of the following: chairman, George McCracken; Bill Patton, Vance Glenn, Carlton Barnes and Ralph Montgomery.

A new member was taken into the troop, Joseph Proctor.

Scribe, Ralph Montgomery.

TROOP 10

The regular weekly meeting of Troop 10 took place Tuesday evening at the Aiken school with Mr. Raney in charge. A good attendance was present.

Games were played at this meeting and instructions in first aid were given. The remainder of the meeting was spent in passing tests. Those passing a test were Elmer Martin, tenderfoot! and Ed Scholscberg, laws.

A picnic dinner was served at the noon hour, when over 500 partook of the bounteous food arranged by the committee. Outdoor sports were enjoyed by the children at the noon hour.

At the close of the afternoon programs all went to their various homes feeling better for the community spirit which prevails throughout the township. The Worth grange presented the evening entertainment when two short plays were given with music by a local orchestra. Readings helped to make up the program. A large crowd was in attendance.

Welsh Evangelist At Tabernacle

Rev. John Thomas Speaks To Huge Audience Wednesday Night

NEARLY FORTY COME TO ALTAR

An evangelist whose words bespoke the conviction of his soul, a preacher who drove home his lessons like a modern Paul, a minister who pointed the way to eternal salvation, this is a pen picture of Rev. John Thomas, noted Welsh evangelist, who held the evening service in Everybody's Tabernacle Wednesday evening, Nov. 14.

It was a remarkable evangelistic meeting, but Rev. Thomas is a rather remarkable man. Successful London merchant, convert, minister, Korean missionary, evangelist, all of these steps mark a part of his career and added to a remarkable spiritual experience is the Welsh "hwyl" which is somehow a quality peculiar to the Cymric race, an emotional quality which means much to a singer or a speaker.

"Indwelling Sin"

Taking for his subject "The Indwelling Sin", Rev. Thomas showed how man was oftentimes controlled by a dual personality, a sort of Jekyll and Hyde combination. Without divine help he often erred, while with Christ as his own the temptation to err was removed.

"Sin is a reality," said Rev. Thomas. "If it were just an imputation then we could accept righteousness as an imputation also. No matter how far you go down in sin, you can still be saved."

Rev. Thomas spoke for an hour or more, but so interesting was his method of delivery, so striking were the truths he spoke, that the huge audience which filled the tabernacle sat through it, focusing their interest upon him.

During the sermon the evangelist gave a little of his own experiences. He had left his native village of Carmarthen, South Wales, and had gone to London to make his fortune. Here he succeeded in building up a large mercantile establishment with many men and women working for him.

During a revival service the merchant gave himself to Christ, and leaving the mercantile field trained himself to be a preacher. He spent 10 years in Korea, where he was mistreated by the Japanese, and later came to this country in the evangelistic field. For many years he was a close friend of the late "Gypsy" Smith and has had a wonderful experience in bringing souls to Christ.

Going to Chicago

Rev. Thomas is going to Chicago with his wife and his evangelistic party, where he will conduct tabernacle services. Mrs. Thomas spoke briefly Wednesday evening, as did several of the party. One reason for their stopping off at New Castle was that the Alliance quintette, the colored singers with Evangelist Erickson, were for years a part of the Thomas evangelistic party. The quintette seemed to do a little better than usual Wednesday evening, due perhaps to their pleasure in working once again with Rev. Thomas.

It was a wonderful evening of evangelism. Approximately 40 sought the altar at the close of the meeting and many held their hands for prayer. Somehow there was an atmosphere created by the appearance and the words of this powerful Welsh evangelist that seemed to bring closer the idea that this revival was getting into a swing that will carry it far within the next few weeks.

'COP' COMES AND HE'S ANGRY, TOO

NEW YORK Nov. 15.—Mrs. Barilo Siptick, 48, played in a lot of tough luck yesterday. First, she says her husband came home and socked her in the eye. Then he took $48 from her and departed.

Seeking justice and recompense, Mrs. Siptick ran out and looked for a policeman. There was none. So she turned in a fire alarm.

Then a policeman did show up, along with firemen and he arrested her for alarming the fire department unnecessarily.

In Harlem court Magistrate Well found her guilty but gave her a suspended sentence with a warning.

"I suppose if my husband had killed me" commented Mrs. Siptick "I'd have been given 90 days for obstructing traffic."

Historic Flag, Missing Since 1864, Is Found

MEXICO, Mo., Nov. 15.—Missing since 1864 when the remnants of the regiment surrendered at Fort Blakely, the historic flag of the Second Missouri Confederate Infantry has been found at the home of Joseph E. Gates at St. Joseph, Mo.

Gen. F. M. Cockrell who commanded the organized brigade in the later years of the war instituted the search. He said he had not seen it since it was taken from its staff at the time of the surrender.

The flag was made by women of Audrain county, Mo., during the early months of the conflict and figured in 17 engagements during the four years of the war.

The flag is of satin, 5 by 3 feet, with eleven stripes of red, white and blue, the coat of arms of Missouri and eleven silver stars in a field of blue in the upper flagstaff corner.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

No One Is Seriously Injured In Any Of Accidents However

A number of accidents occurring Wednesday afternoon and evening and reported to the police were not of a serious nature. One child was struck by a machine but not seriously injured.

John Nelson of 1056 Beckford street was enroute south on Shenango street in front of the Withers plumbing shop, Wednesday, when a small boy between eight and nine years of age, ran from the east side to the west side of the street and from the rear of a Withers' truck. He was struck and knocked to the street by the Nelson car.

On stopping to investigate, Mr. Nelson found that the boy was named Withers and that it was his father that picked him up. Mr. Nelson wanted the boy taken to a physician but the father insisted that it was not necessary. The boy was bruised about the left ankle, but apparently not seriously injured.

Warren C. Johnston, 840 Almira avenue, reported that he was enroute south on South Jefferson street at the center of the public square, when a machine in front of his car went through on the green light. At the same time, a man driving a machine at his right and enroute east on East Washington street pulled through the red light and turned to the right, resulting in a collision of the two machines. Some damage was done.

Walter Yaro, 709 East Long avenue, driver of a truck of M. Joseph, East Long avenue, reported Wednesday that he was enroute north on South Mill street in front of the Lawrence Laundry company plant, when a truck of the Warren Steel company going in the same direction in front of the Joseph truck, made a left turn into the place of business of the Independent Coal company without giving a signal of his intention. The result was that the Yaro car struck the other machine. Both cars were damaged.

Local Red Cross Chapter Operates For Employment

Pat J. Dempsey, executive secretary of the American Red Cross local chapter, stated this morning that the Lawrence county organization always stands ready to help persons in need.

"Sometimes people are in real financial need, and yet sometimes there are people who plea that they're out of work in order to get this assistance," continued the secretary. "Our chapter will do all it possibly can to give to those who are worthy of help, at least temporary aid to those who need it badly."

"The Red Cross is enabled to give employment to both men and women at different times. About any kind of work can usually be had. We have numerous cases where expert seamstresses, widows of ex-soldiers and mothers of several children, desire work either permanently or by the day.

Mr. Dempsey asserts that the Lawrence county chapter is rendering this help to citizens who either need work or financial backing for the present at the least. Red Cross headquarters here can be had by calling 2697.

COUNCILMEN TO USE ECONOMY

Will Practice Thrift Of Coolidge In Preparing Budget For 1929

Economy will be watchword of council members when they cluster around a table in December to appropriate monies for the operation of the city of New Castle during 1929.

This was the intimation furnished by the city fathers today when asked if they propose providing for new equipment.

"We could use half a million dollars if we could get it," said Councilman Reeves.

"I believe we will have to chop down," said Councilman Davies.

"Do you believe that there will be requests for increases in salaries?" councilmen were asked.

"There may be some individual requests," replied Davies.

"I understand the police would like new cars," said Reeves.

"I believe they should have a couple of Fords, but I am opposed to buying a big, high-priced machine," said Tyler.

He went on to state that the present type of Ford has speed and could be used for various purposes.

Councilman Burns later said that the tax millage is 11 3-4 for 1928.

Maud Allan Will Appear At London

Old Dancer Again Will Tread The Boards At Albert Hall Soon

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Miss Maud Allan, the famous classical dancer, is to appear in public again, in London next January.

Her reappearance will take place at a Sunday afternoon concert at the Albert hall. A symphony orchestra will play Tchaikovsky's Sixth Symphony and Miss Allan will give expression to the poetry of the music by dancing throughout the recital.

After the symphony Miss Allan will dance one or two of her famous dances, including Dubinstein's "Value Caprice" and Mendelssohn's "Spring Song".

It was just over 20 years ago that Miss Allan created a sensation by her dance, "The Vision of Salome". A heated controversy arose on account of the flimsiness of her costume, which today would be regarded as more than proper. Although her performances were banned in Manchester and other cities, she appeared twice before King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

(International News Service)

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—F. W. Gustave Von Herr, a mechanical dentist, today owed his life to a silver quarter he carried in his vest pocket.

When Von Herr was shot by an attempted assassin the bullet struck the piece of money and Von Herr sustained only a slight flesh wound.

Von Herr told police he was shot by a communist who had traveled half the way around the world to "get him". He said his father and his brother were assassinated in Metz early in the year for their monarchistic activities.

Fail To Locate Postal Robbers At Steubenville

Believe $60,000 Post Office Robbery Committed By Trained Gang Of Thugs

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 15.—Postal inspectors and police authorities worked on two clues today in effort to capture the daring bandits who last Sunday looted the post office registered mail vault of valuables estimated at $60,000 after binding and gagging Assistant Postmaster Charles Irwin.

While the officials were working on clues in the postoffice, three masked bandits walked into a restaurant directly across the street, strong-armed an employe and escaped with $35 from the cash register.

The two post office robbery clues upon which the investigators worked today, were not divulged.

One postal inspector, however, indicated he believed the robbery was committed by a "trained gang that is probably hundreds of miles away by this time."

War Is Art, Says Foch In His Book

Modern Warfare Knows But One Argument—A Strong Blow, He Says

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 15.—War is an art, according to Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies.

Pertinent utterances and writings of the great chieftain have been put in book form and entitled: "Words of a Soldier."

"Ancient warfare was sparing of the use of armed force, preferring ruses, menaces, negotiations, manoeuvres, skirmishes, occupation of territory and the capturing of isolated positions.

"Modern warfare, since Napoleon, employs every means available for it knows but one argument—a strong blow.

"It is only after crushing the enemy in battle and routing him that there is time for discussion.

"Before strategy can be put into execution preparations must be made to launch an offensive under the best possible conditions; then, the battle won, a new strategical stroke can be planned but always with the same end in view—another battle."

Fire Department Changes Tables

New Pirsch Service Truck Will Answer Alarms From All Boxes

The running table of the New Castle fire department has been changed considerably since the new Pirsch Four Way fire apparatus was put in actual service Tuesday morning, states Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn. And, the chief continues, the new truck must have some effect on the city, for since it has been placed in actual service, there have been no fire alarms.

The new Pirsch truck will answer calls to all parts of the city. This will be a saving to New Castle, because formerly it was necessary to take the aerial truck to all fires because the other trucks did not have ladders sufficient to reach the houses. However, the new truck has on it ladder large enough to reach all but the tallest buildings. It is understood that the old aerial truck will not be taken to any fires except those which are known to be in districts where the buildings are exceptionally high.

Wampum Citizens Meet To Discuss Bridge Opening

Wampum citizens held a meeting last night for the purpose of considering arrangements for a celebration at the opening of the new Wampum bridge and viaduct over the Beaver river. No definite action was taken, owing to the fact that it is not yet known when the bridge will be accepted.

Before it can be accepted viewers will have to be appointed by the court and make their report. It is not likely that the bridge can be opened until the last of the month or the first of next month.

Asks Fair Treatment For Captain Carey, Late Vestris Chief

Urges American Press Give Late Noble Vestris Commander An Even Break

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Protest against the treatment accorded Captain William J. Carey, master of the Vestris, who went down with his ship, was expressed today by Captain Sir Burton Chadwick, deputy master of the Honorable Company of Master Marines of London, of which the Prince of Wales is master.

"As a seaman I protest most strenuously against the wild and cruel injustice that is being done to the late master of the Vestris by a section of the United States press," said Sir Burton. "No authentic account of a disaster of this kind can be available until an official inquiry is held.

"Until then, in the name of fairness, let reason prevail.

"Captain Carey is said to have remained on the bridge to the last and went down with his ship. That is in accord with the highest traditions of seamen."

Olympic Fencer Gets Call From President

Excused From School To Attend Reception Given By Von Hindenburg

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Fraulein Helene Mayer, Olympic fencing champion, is proud of the best excuse for staying away from school that a German girl could possibly produce.

She was excused from school for one day only to attend a reception given by President von Hindenburg to the German Olympic victors. When Hindenburg heard of the briefness of her vacation he immediately sat down and wrote to the director of the school as follows:

"Please excuse Fraulein Helene Mayer from school for another day. All of us would like to have her here a little while longer and we would like to show her the Berlin light festival."

"With best regards, Hindenburg."

Queen Of Spain Asked To Resue British Deserter

Oxford Don's Son Deserts From Spanish Foreign Legion In Riff War

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Appealing personally to the queen of Spain, two London women are making a strong attempt to secure the release of Alex Cyril Ogden, son of a distinguished Oxford scholar, who is being held prisoner by the Spanish authorities on a charge of desertion from the Spanish Foreign Legion.

The women are Ogden's wife and mother. They have sold all their possessions to further their campaign.

Ogden joined the Spanish Foreign Legation in Barcelona and fought against the Riffs in Morocco. What his relatives describe as "intolerable conditions" led him to desert, but after 10 days of liberty he was recaptured by the French and handed over to the Spanish authorities.

In letters to his wife Ogden declares that he has been cruelly treated and that for nearly two years he has been kept prisoner without benefit of trial.

Mrs. Ogden has appealed to the British and Spanish foreign office, the queen of Spain, the Prince of Wales and the British ambassador in Madrid in an effort to obtain her husband's freedom.

Drive On Speeders Being Continued By City Police

Violaters Of School Zone Regulations Will Be Fined In Every Case

Motorcycle officers of the city were today advised by Chief of Police C. C. Horner to continue their drive against speeders on any of the streets of the city.

"All such violators" said Chief Horner, "are to be brought in and they will be subjected to the usual fine. Those motorists who insist on passing another machine in school zone districts will also be ordered in and required to pay fines.

"There has also been a tendency on the part of many motorists to cease observing the stop signs in all parts of the city also stated the chief and the officers are instructed to turn in all persons caught overlooking the stop signs. They will be assessed the usual fine.

NEW TRAFFIC SIGN OPERATES

North And Jefferson Street Corner Now Regulated By Tri-Color Signal

Autoists who operated machines in Jefferson street at North last night discovered the new traffic signal working satisfactorily and it is believed that the "go and stop" sign will prove a big aid to traffic.

Relative to intersections, some automobilists are violating regulations of the police department by parking automobiles too close to intersections.

For instance, as an example, at North and North Jefferson streets, cars parked on the east side of Jefferson, too close to the corner, block the view of autoists making right turns.

This condition, or parking too near intersections is prevalent in many sections and it is anticipated that included in the campaign against speeding and slighting "stop signs" will be an order to penalize persons who disregard parking rules.

Ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene Tells Coolidge Trial Plans Are Ready

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Steps are under way to bring Ex-secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall and E. L. Doheny, California oil man, to trial on charges of bribery in connection with the Elk Hills Naval Oil lease, Ex-senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, government oil counsel, reported to President Coolidge today.

Pomerene is making inquiries as to Fall's health. If Fall is too ill to stand trial it will not be necessary to postpone the case as Doheny could be brought to trial separately, Pomerene said.

Rothstein Case Is Re-opened By Mayor Walker

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—With startling suddenness Mayor Walker today reopened his personal digging into the Arnold Rothstein murder mystery. He summoned Police Commissioner Warren, Inspector Coughlin of the detective bureau, and every detective assigned to the case, and "invited" District Attorney Baton to a conference at City Hall.

Both the summonses and the "invitation" were heeded and it appeared, after the arrival of the "guests", that the mayor had set up police headquarters in City Hall.

Banton today threatened that if George McManus, wanted for questioning in the case, does not give himself up, he will be charged with murder. McManus is the man whose top coat was found in room 349 of the Park Central Hotel, where Rothstein was mortally wounded.

May Subpoena Spirit To Settle Lawsuit

Spirit May Be Able To Settle Damage Suit Now In French Courts

(International News Service)
PARIS, Nov. 15.—A subpoena may be issued for the spirit of Mlle. Janet Rispaud, who died at the age of 16, in 1915, to appear in court and settle a $22,000 damage suit.

Janet's aunt, Mme. Noellie Rispaud, is suing Achilles Borgnis, who writes on spiritualism as a self-styled graduate of the Institute of Sciences of New York.

Mr. Borgnis described in a book how Janet returned to the world in 1919 and appeared so real as she sat down in the family circle that her grandmother nearly died from shock.

When the judge heard counsel for both sides he ordered that Mme. Rispaud and Mr. Borgnis appear personally in court, adding: "If Janet can be brought back to earth so easily it might be well to have her express her views on the extent of damage caused by this publicity."

Get More Than Half Of The Funds Needed For Legion Convention

Merchants Support Campaign To Raise Funds To Finance Convention

Special Committee Meets This Evening At Eeight O'clock In Legion Home

More than one-half of the money necessary for the financing of the American Legion convention had been raised Wednesday evening by the special legion convention committee under the direction of Phil G. Greer and it is thought that by this evening a good two-thirds of the total amount estimated to be needed will have been raised.

This evening by 8 o'clock, Phil G. Greer, chairman of the drive, is calling a special meeting of the convention committee to meet at the legion home. At this time reports of the drive will be made by the various canvassers and further plans for the extending of the invitation to the state American Legion convention to meet here next May for their 1929 convention.

Thus far, states Mr. Greer, merchants have shown every interest and from indications presented we will have absolutely no difficulty in raising the money to finance the convention.

"Some persons," he stated, "wonder why we need money to finance the convention. There will be no less than 35,000 delegates here and within all probabilities there will be many thousands more not, including visitors. The money will be used for street decorations and for entertainment.

"Previous to extending the invitation at Philadelphia this coming month before the executive committee of the legion, we must be able to show that the town is back of the convention and that we have sufficient funds to maintain it in the proper way. It is nothing other than a guarantee of good faith and the fact that we can take care of the convention here."

Other merchants who perhaps have not been interviewed should send their checks in case they would care to donate to Ed Russell, treasurer of the American Legion convention committee.

The convention, state legionnaires, is a stroke of business for any city that is worth getting. Thousands of persons have been registered and many thousands more have visited in towns where the state convention has taken place.

GAINED GLORIOUS HEALTH THRU USE OF NEW KONJOLA

Rundown System Invigorated By This Medicine; Also Ended All His Severe Ailments.

MR. JOHN SOMTAG

The amazing manner in which this new Konjola medicine has restored thousands of people to health after many years suffering from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels has not only become the talk of the drug and medical trades of this section but is also the subject of much interest to the general public. The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, is daily explaining the merits of this medicine to large crowds of people. A steady stream of voluntary indorsements are received from former sufferers and among the latest to indorse Konjola is Mr. John Somtag, 911 Maryland avenue, New Castle, who made the following statement:

"I am publicly indorsing Konjola because I know what this medicine will do", said Mr. Somtag. "It has restored my health at a time when I felt sure nothing would ever give me the slightest relief.

"Some time ago I was taken sick with a severe case of influenza and when I had recovered from this sickness it seemed to me that my entire system was left in a very run-down condition. My whole body was a mass of aches and pains and nothing that I would ever do for relief helped me the least bit. It was almost impossible for me to get to sleep at night because my nerves were so upset I would roll and toss on my bed for hours. I steadily lost weight and strength until I was a mere shell of my former self. Then my kidneys became affected and I was forced to rise several times every night due to frequent bladder action and all during the day I was subject to severe pains across the small of my back that really made life miserable for me. I was quite discouraged because I thought my case was beyond hope and I would go through the rest of my life in this condition.

"But since I have taken Konjola everything is different and this medicine has made such a vast improvement in my condition that I can hardly realize I am the same person. It did not take a great quantity to produce the results I tried so long and hard to obtain. I have just completed the second bottle and I want to tell everyone that my health is all that I ever hoped it to be. I can go to sleep the minute I get in bed and I never wake up until the next morning. All the aches and pains have disappeared and I am steadily gaining in weight and strength. My kidneys are so much stronger that the night risings are things of the miserable past and those pains across my back never come over me. I have a keener enjoyment in the daily activities and am always filled with energy and ambition. It is a pleasure to indorse such a medicine and I know that others will gain the same benefits that I did if they will only give this medicine a fair trial".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Konjola contains juices from 22 plants—more than other medicines. It is a new compound that works with the sufferer's food, restoring more healthful action to the important organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and producing new energy and glorious health in a natural way, thru the entire inner-system.

Winter Months Are Critical Time For Ewes, Says McCulloch

County Agent Says Some 12,000 Sheep Now In Lawrence County

During the breeding season and following through the winter months is a very important time for ewe owners in the county, states Harold McCulloch, county agent. The ewes must not be put on a fattening ration during this time but should, however, be put in a rather high condition.

Proper nourishment for the ewes during this time will mean stronger lambs and also more milk for the feeding of them, states the county agent.

The flock can generally be kept in condition with use of less expensive foods than oil meal and bran when oast, corn and leguminous roughage are used.

Exercise for the ewes is essential and the better is the result if the exercise is the result of the ewe's initiative. Shelter from the rains and cold must also be considered.

There are some 12,000 sheep in Lawrence county at the present time and each year the flocks are growing and more wool is being produced. Those farmers who have experienced trouble during the winter months with ewes will find many of their troubles eliminated, if they feed correctly states McCulloch.

Last Pennsylvania Horse Insurance Company Faces Disaster

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 15—"The Old Gray Mare, she ain't what she used to be."

That seems to be the old-time classic that has become the funeral march of the horse insurance companies that once flourished in Montgomery county. The motor age has practically relegated the horse to the has-been class and the insurance companies have suffered heavily.

The last of the horse insurance companies in this county the Pennsburg and Goschenhoppen Mutual Live Stock Insurance company now faces liquidation proceedings because of the tremendous decrease in business due to the popularization of the automobile. The company has less than 200 horses insured when the proceedings were filed.

Thus the march of progress. Twenty-five years ago each horse insurance company had from 800 to 1,000 animals listed on its books with yearly appraisement days. At these times horses were brought to some central point and for several days representatives of the companies looked over the horses and readjusted valuations. But that is all past. This is the motor age.

Principal Orth At Philadelphia

Attending Conference Of Commission Upon High School Credentials

Principal F. L. Orth of the Senior High school left last night for Philadelphia where he will attend the Pennsylvania Commission of Secondary Schools and Colleges meeting. The meeting is being held at the University of Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday.

Eight men are on this commission and Principal Orth is a member. The purpose of this meeting is to go over the credentials of high schools and to determine whether high schools should be placed on the acredited list. High school students must do a certain amount of work and this is mainly the reason for the meeting, to determine whether the work is standard.

If the work is standard the students will be admitted to college without an examination.

Three hundred and eighty high schools have submitted credentials to be acted upon by this commission. Two thirds of these have been passed as favorable and one third as unfavorable.

This meeting will mark the third session of this commission. One year ago it was held at Philadelphia with the next meeting being held at State College the following spring. In the spring of 1929 the next meeting will be held at State College.

E. R. Patterson assistant principal will be in charge of the high school until Mr. Orth returns which is expected to be Monday morning.

Water Carriers Object To Modern Pipes

PEKING, Nov. 15.—Ten thousand water-carriers have declared war on the Peking waterworks which they declare is depriving them of their means of livelihood. Several riots have occurred recently in which the police have declined to intervene through sympathy with the carriers.

The water-carriers have been established in Peking for centuries with their own guild. They wheel water through the streets on their one-wheeled barrow which emits a harsh creaking sound. Householders wanting water hear the noise and come to their doors as the carrier passes to make their bargain.

Since the overthrow of the Manchus in 1911, many of the former ruling class, who never did any menial labor, have entered the ranks of the water-carriers. But now adversity is pursuing them furtner, in the shape of the water-works which pipes water into a thousand new Peking homes every year.

The recent riots have been caused by carriers attacking gangs installing pipes for the waterworks. In spite of all protests however more and more Peking people are having water piped into their homes.

Medical Director Warns Of Deadly Rabbit Fever

By DR. H. C. HARPER
Medical Director of Lawrence County

County Medical Director Dr. H. C. Harper, issues the following information and warning to hunters and all others who come into contact with the deadly rabbit disease which has caused so much discussion throughout the country. It is known as tularemia or rabbit fever.

The bureau of research and information of the state game commission, with the aid of the laboratories of the bureau of animal industry, has been active in the examination of many rabbits in an attempt to locate this mysterious and much discussed and dangerous disease, particularly confined to rabbits. Many specimens, sent into the laboratories under suspicion of having this disease have not been substantiated by examination.

The disease is so violent among rabbits and allied rodents that among these mammals it is nearly always fatal.

Some of the characteristic symptoms of a rabbit affected with this disease are as follows: In the first stage the animal becomes weak, sleepy and utterly defenseless. They lose their characteristic tendency to seek cover when disturbed as the healthy rabbit does; consequently a hunter who kills a fast running, well-muscled rabbit need not fear tularemia, as rabbits affected with the disease can not run away. In the mid-stage of the disease they seem oblivious to their surroundings.

Hunters or others are warned against picking up dead animals found lying in the woods or fields as any such rabbits found dead from no apparent cause should be regarded with suspicion; however on the other hand, dead rabbits found along the highways with bloody wounds need cause no worry as they were probably killed by automobiles, gun shot or dogs; but animals found in cover and without external wounds should be examined and handled with great care.

In the advance stage of tularemia during which the animal can move only with difficulty, it will be observed upon skinning, they are accompanied with white or yellowish spots on the liver or spleen. These spots may not mean tularemia exactly, as there are other more or less innocent diseases that will produce similar spots, yet are not harmless. However any rabbit showing these symptoms should not be eaten as a safety measure.

Hunters and others are advised that when skinning rabbits great care should be used, for the germ of tularemia may, it is believed, reach the blood through the human skin even when there are no cuts or wounds in the skin.

Some of the symptoms of tularemia among the human person are a general lassitude or weakness, fever with chills, swelling of glands, ulceration in various parts of the body generally in the groin, hands and under the arms, resulting sometimes in death.

It is recommended by the medical director that rubber gloves be used in skinning animals if there are, at any time, symptoms prompting a suspicion of the disease in general.

Tularemia is not contracted thru eating the cooked flesh of a diseased rabbit; consequently all rabbit meats should be thoroughly cooked. It may be contracted by any member of the rodent group; a mouse, rat, groundhog, squirrels, muskrat and according to recent investigation it is transferrable to the grouse; but not to deer and ring-neck pheasants.

The medical director would appreciate being notified by any hunter or other person who should come into contact with a rabbit showing any of the above characteristics of tularemia, or any person believed to be suffering from the dangerous disease.

All Banded Birds Should Be Reported

Will Lead To Precise Information On Wild Fowl, Says Survey

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15. — Pennsylvania sportsmen are requested by the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture to report all banded birds that come to their attention. The reporting of such birds will lead to "precise information relative to North American wild fowl" according to the bureau.

Between 15 and 20 stations are now in operation in various parts of the country banding birds. These stations extend from Maine and South Carolina to Washington and Oregon. More than 30,000 ducks and geese have already been banded.

The value of these banding activities is dependent upon the reports sent in by sportsmen who kill the banded birds. The bureau of biological survey requests all sportsmen of the Keystone state to send in the number on the band of the birds coming to their attention, and the date and place of capture.

In reply the bureau will supply to the sportsmen with the banding record of the birds.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

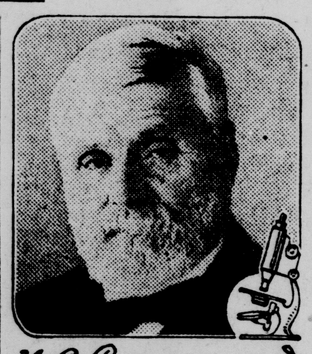

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or use this free coupon:

Bigger Dirigibles Needed For Travel, Says Hans Nolde

Graf Zeppelin Not Big Enough Says Pennsylvania Man, Late Passenger

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Nov. 15.—Much larger and heavier dirigibles must be built before trans-oceanic passenger travel will be a success Hans W. Nolde, wealthy Reading manufacturer, declared today in commenting on his recent trip to Europe aboard the Graf Zeppelin.

"Never again on the Graf Zeppelin for me," Holde said.

"We were cold, hungry and dying for a cigarette long before we reached Friedrichshafen. With the cold gray ocean below and land a long ways off—these are real discomforts. And with the risk, I believe they will hamper ocean air travel until larger and heavier ships are built and pressed into service.

"There wasn't enough food. And what there was, was not served often enough on the dirigible," Nolde added.

Thirty States Require Mirror In Automobiles

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Pennsylvania is one of the thirty states of the Union requiring the use of mirrors on motor vehicles in order to give operators a rear vision, the American Automobile association has just announced. The research department of the association has recently completed a survey of the laws of the various states governing the use of rear-vision mirrors and has learned that thirty states and the District of Columbia require that all motor vehicles be equipped with such mirrors.

Pennsylvania's neighbor on the north, New York state, also requires the use of such mirrors on motor cars, but neither Ohio on the west or Delaware on the east have as yet enacted legislation making necessary the mirrors as a part of the motor car's equipment.

Ten Million For Welfare Buildings Is Fisher's Plan

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 15.—Indications now point to expenditures in excess of $10,000,000 for welfare institution construction during the next biennium, Governor John S. Fisher said today.

The governor made the statement in commenting on the passage of a resolution by the state council of Republican women in its session here last night, urging that at least $10,000,000 be expended for welfare institutions because of the defeat of the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue.

The colony for epileptics now under construction at Selinsgrove and the proposed institution for male permanent mental defectives at New Cumberland will receive special attention in the drawing of the budget, the governor said.

The governor named in detail the construction work accomplished or under way during the present biennium and emphasized the fact that $7,300,000 has been authorized.

Captain Carey, with a worried expression, remained calm as he gave orders from the hurricane deck when abandonment became necessary.

Men and women occupying the lifeboats were forced to jump into the water when the crew was unable to release the boats from the davits.

Displaying bravery, the second steward of the Vestris jumped into the sea to advise the passengers what they should do to save themselves.

A man and woman were rescued by the steamer American Shipper after floating in the water for 18 hours and nearly exhausted when picked up.

Another survivor has thrilling tale of clinging to a spar throughout the night and of sighting the rescue ships in the morning.

Occupants of the lifeboats were kept busy bailing when heavy seas broke unceasingly over gunwales of the tiny craft.

Grenet Identified By Federal Witness In Pittsburgh Probe

Assemblyman Grenet Revealed As "Big Boss" Behind Liquor Ring

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—State Representative S. J. Grenet one of 46 defendants in the Northside rum conspiracy case was identified in federal court here today by Walter Krol, government witness who admitted he had engaged in bootlegging.

Kroy who said he sold liquor in his lunch room, told the court that after his establishment had been raided twice he was told by Lieut. John Lynch to close down or "see Grenet."

Krol said he saw Grenet who told him to keep on selling.

Anthony Puniak another alleged botlegger who yesterday failed to identify Grenet in court today admitted of having a conversation with a man who gave his name as Grenet in the Fort Pitt brewery. Puniak maintained however that the man—Grenet—whom he had been asked to identify in court yesterday was not the man who represented himself as Grenet at their meeting.

Today however Government Prosecutor Ralph M. Smith asked Assemblyman Grenet to stand up in court and asked:

"Is that the man you call Grenet?"

"Yes' said Krol.

The conference is considering constructive preventative measures involving processes of education and processes of legal restriction."

Because it's Human to Forget

These Fine Cars are equipped with

AUTOMATIC Motor Protection

THESE motor car manufacturers know from long years of study and observation that cold is the greatest menace to motor life and efficiency.

Tests have proved that motor life could be greatly lengthened—and repair bills reduced to a minimum—if motors could operate the year 'round in warm temperatures.

Since that is impossible, manufacturers have turned to the one proved method of keeping a motor at the right temperature—despite cold.

They have adopted automatic motor protection—automatic because they know the great human fault—forgetfulness. They know that cold is too serious a menace to take chances with—and to guess about.

Adoption by these leading manufacturers of this dependable, positive, automatic method of guarding the motor with scientific accuracy is the highest recommendation we can offer you. Their choice is reason enough why you, too, must choose automatic motor protection if you want to avoid the damage of cold.

But why automatic?

Why not leave this vital operation to the discretion of the driver? Because the motor car manufacturer knows that the driver forgets. He knows that the national repair bills of millions could be cut in two if drivers didn't forget. Today, when he improves, he makes it impossible to forget.

See that the shutter you buy works automatically

These cars need automatic motor protection—or they wouldn't have it. Your car needs the same kind of protection. Unless the shutter on your car works automatically, you cannot possibly get full protection against cold. Thus, when you go to buy a radiator shutter this year, be sure it is automatic. These great makers tell you that.

Motor Protection Must Be Automatic

Equip at the first sign of cold weather

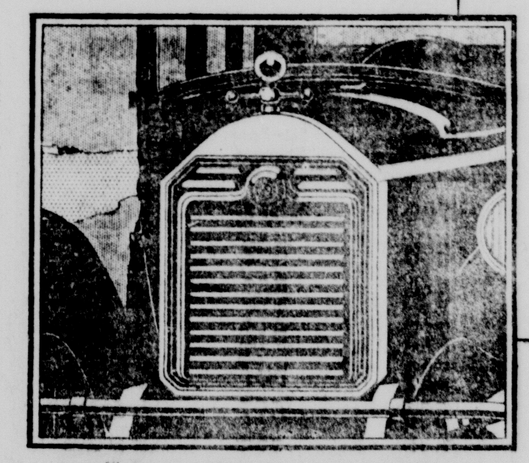

Science has placed the blame for 50% to 75% of all premature motor wear on cold—greatest destroyer of motor life and efficiency. At 60° Fahrenheit your motor is underheated. That's when cold strikes the first blow.

You get the warning signal in coughing, spitting noises and delayed starting. You reach for the "choke"—and instantly a flood of raw gasoline hits ice-cold metal. Oil is washed away from glass-like surfaces. Metal grinds against metal at a terrific speed, producing friction no motor can stand. Excessive dilution follows, fouled spark plugs, extreme carbonization, corrosion and rapid cylinder wear. This is the damage you pay for in the spring. Damage that can now be totally avoided.

Pines Winterfront stops the danger of cold

Your radiator is a heat waster. It was put there for that purpose. If efficient, it throws away 35% to 40% of the heat of the fuel. At 60° Fahrenheit there is no heat to spare, yet heat waste continues through the radiator. That's why motor temperature must be controlled at the radiator—where heat waste occurs.

Pines Automatic Winterfront completely covers the radiator and remains closed until the motor is warm enough to operate without damage to vital parts. The shutters then begin to open, automatically, allowing the entrance of exactly enough cool air to maintain a scientifically correct temperature.

Illustrating the Pierce-Arrow equipped with Pines Automatic Winterfront

When you park your car, Winterfront closes completely while your motor is still hot. You cannot walk away and forget it. There is no chance for dangerous neglect.

With a Winterfront on your car, you "warm-up" in seconds. The "choke" habit disappears because there is no need for it. Your motor starts quicker and easier with less battery strain. You enjoy a noticeable saving of gasoline—your car is warm inside—your motor runs with summer smoothness and flexibility.

Winterfront is easily installed

We will equip your car with a Pines Automatic Winterfront in a few minutes. Moderately priced, it will pay for itself many times over—and will give you years of service. Thermostats are guaranteed. Accept no substitute. There is only one automatic radiator shutter on the market.

Rochester To Clash With Local Team Saturday

Rochester Team To Arrive With Impressive String Of Victories Behind Them

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 15.—Two more games remain to be played on the Ellwood City high's football schedule for the season. They are Rochester and Monaca, both Beaver valley elevens. The former, rated the better of the two and one of the strongest in the valley is to clash here on Saturday with Lee's warriors.

Rochester comes here with an impressive record and is even stronger than last year's eleven. Only last Saturday she swamped Monaca by a 24-0 score. Coach Hanck has produced a fine squad.

According to the latest dope Rochester should defeat the Tubers. By comparing some of the scores made against other teams, Rochester looks like a sure winner here.

Lee's gridders won from Zelienople by a 13-6 count while the Hanck men beat that team 38-13. Ellwood was defeated by Beaver Falls 24-0 while Rochester held them to two touchdowns. Then too, New Brighton played 7-7 deadlock with E. C. H. S. and lost to Rochester 19-0.

From these comparisons things look pretty dark for Ellwood but the dope bucket is easily upset. Lee's men were considered the underdog against Aliquippa and New Brighton and although they could only tie the score the local team outplayed these two teams.

Last year the blue and white won a 24-12 victory over Rochester but can they repeat this year? That is a question that can hardly be answered before the contest is played.

All players on the Ellwood squad are in good condition except Bill King who was battered up in last Saturday's contest. Slobjan is down with a cold but both of these men are expected to round into shape for the coming battle.

Almquist, Rochester's flashy quarterback will have to be watched by Lee's warriors. He is a triple thread and has been a brilliant performer this season.

Nevertheless a hectic contest is expected between these two blue and white elevens and it is hoped that fair weather is spared for the fray.

Up The Railway To Malolos

BY MARCH 25, 1899, FRESH TROOPS FROM THE "STATES" HAD REPLACED THOSE OF GEN. MACARTHUR IN THE TRENCHES AT CALOOCAN, AND MACARTHUR AND HIS MEN BEGAN A DETERMINED ADVANCE NORTHWARD ALONG THE LINE OF THE MANILA-DAGUPAN RAILWAY, WITH MALOLOS, THE CAPITAL OF THE FILIPINO INSURGENTS, AS THEIR GOAL.

THE SAME DAY, THE BRIGADES OF GENERALS HALE AND H. G. OTIS (OF MACARTHUR'S DIVISION), DROVE THE REBELS FROM THEIR WORKS BEFORE CALOOCAN, FORDED THE TUILAJAN RIVER UNDER A HEAVY FIRE AND, WHEELING TO THE LEFT, TRIED TO PIN THE INSURGENT ARMY AGAINST THE SHORE OF MANILA BAY NORTH OF MALABON.

IN THE MEANTIME, WHEATON'S SEPARATE BRIGADE (THE 22ND U. S. INFANTRY AND 2ND OREGON), ADVANCED NORTH ALONG THE RAILWAY, DRIVING THE FILIPINOS BEFORE THEM. THE FOLLOWING DAY THE AMERICANS ATTACKED THE TOWN OF MALINTA, A FEW MILES NORTH OF CALOOCAN.

THE FILIPINOS FLED BEFORE THE ONSLAUGHT OF THE AMERICANS. MALABON, CUT OFF BY THE RAPID ADVANCE OF OUR FORCES, WAS BURNED AND ABANDONED BY THE INSURGENTS, AND THE TOWNS OF MALINTA AND MEYGUYACAN SHARED A LIKE FATE.

Voting Machines Backed By Public

Both Fisher And Martin Approve Of Election Reform Measures

AMENDMENT WAS NOT SPONSORED BY LOBBY

By WILLIAM B. BROWN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 15.—Approval of the two amendments to the constitution which will permit the legislature to authorize the use of voting machines means, it is believed here, that the real election reform will have clear sailing when the law makers get down to action early next year.

Although the voting machines amendments, unlike many of the other 12 amendments voted on November 6, were not backed by well paid lobbies, they alone claimed the attention of a large percentage of voters.

Public interest thus manifested in the voting machines is taken to mean that the electorate is interested in the question, and usually the legislature is willing to act when it is convinced that there is an actual demand for legislation.

Such legislation will have an easy course because both Governor John S. Fisher and State Chairman Edward Martin are committed to the passage of enabling legislation for the voting machines.

At the last session, although Governor Fisher was committed to election reform measures he found such a diversity of opinion regarding many of the measures that he determined to 'make haste slowly."

Although several such measures were finally passed and approved, others were lost in the usual difference of opinions and claims which so often block action of any kind.

The governor appointed a commission to study the entire question of election reform and to make a report at the coming session. The commission held hearings in several cities and permitted those interested to appear and testify. What additional legislation the commission will favor is not yet known.

Passage of legislation in the next session will be only one more step in the path of final adoption of voting machines. After that their use will be entirely a matter of local option.

Much of the opposition against them has come from the rural sections where election reform measures usually receive their strongest support. A great deal of the rural opposition was predicted on the contention that the cost will be prohibitive and that they will not effect a financial saving.

Believe City Jail Is Now Secure

New Type Of Locks To Put Stop To Any Further Jail Deliveries

Since the present jail in the rear of the patrol barn of the police department was put into use, a total of thirteen men, prisoners in the jail, have managed to escape, because of the now known and remedied weakness in the construction of the jail.

This included those charged with robbery, operating speakeasies and larceny of automobiles. These occurred in a period of six or seven years.

As each new weakness in the jail has been discovered, the fault has been remedied.

The last prisoner to escape simply walked out the door of his cell. Investigation after his disappearance showed that the locks on the cell doors were defective.

That defect has now been remedied with the use of the finest type of Yale padlocks, which are used in addition to the regular locks of the jail doors.

The police are hopeful that this will prove sufficient to prevent any more breaks in the future.

STATE TOBACCO CROP IS LARGE

Pennsylvania Growers Will Produce 47,250,000 Pounds This Year

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Pennsylvania tobacco growers will produce a 1928 crop of 47,250,000 pounds, according to a forecast by the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States department of agriculture.

This forecast places the 1928 crop greater than the harvest of 1927 by 2,370,000 pounds but suggests that tobacco farmers of the state will fail to equal the average yearly production of the period of 1922-26 by 7,584,000 pounds.

The yield per acre in Pennsylvania will total 1,350 pounds as compared with a yield of 1,371 pounds per acre during the ten-year period used by the department of agriculture as a basis of comparison.

Pennsylvania will rank seventh of the 48 states in the growing of tobacco during the present, the agricultural department believes.

Captain Morris Makes Address

Discusses Flight With Col. Thaw At Meeting Of Local Aero Club

FORESEES GREAT AERIAL PROGRESS

At the dinner meeting of the New Castle Aero Club, held Wednesday evening at the Elks Club, there were present 26 members and guests, the largest number yet attending any meeting of the organization. This included a number of new members, present for the first time.

Featuring the occasion was the address of Captain John Morris of Pittsburgh, one of the pioneer flyers of this district and a veteran of the World War, in which he told of part that he and Colonel William Thaw took in the trans-continental flight held earlier in the year, in which their plane crashed and in which they sustained serious injuries; also made predictions as to the flying game in the years to come.

Clubroom Ready

Following the dinner a short business session was held, over which President Thomas Evans presided. During the business session it was announced that the clubroom at the Kegarise Air Transport, Inc., flying field on the Wilmington road, had been completed and that the meeting on Wednesday of next week would be held at that place. It is planned to hold meetings every week, one week at the clubroom and the next at the Elks Club. A gratifying increase in membership was also announced, as well as the fact that the club ship should arrive about the first of next April.

It was also announced by R. R. Kegarise that at the meeting two weeks from last night at the Elks Club the speaker would be Lieutenant Grevenberg of Pittsburgh, who participated in class B of the transcontinental air derby, and who will tell of his experiences under the topic of "Walking Home From An Airplane Race".

Compliments Club

Captain Morris prefaced his remarks by complimenting the local club on its large and fine membership in such a short period of time. He urged them to keep up their enthusiasm because of the great things that were destined to happen in aviation in the next five years.

He then entered upon a discussion of the plane which he piloted for Colonel William Thaw. It was constructed in California and was the last word in airplanes, especially those the size of this one. It was ordered so as to be ready 20 or 30 days before the race. Its engine developed 550 horsepower and the big machine made an average of 110 to 112 miles in the race until it crashed. Colonel Thaw, he said, is planning to have a 600-horsepower motor in the plane he plans to fly in the derby next year, and Captain Morris said he hoped he might have the pleasure of being pilot of this ship.

While in Los Angeles waiting for the completion of the plane, he and Colonel Thaw secured an army DeHaviland plane. Captain Morris gave a very vivid description of their trip over the mountains in the vicinity of that city, during which the plane caught on fire. They finally managed to land in safety.

Colonel Thaw and he received the racing plane 13 days before the date of the opening of the derby. They had some rather interesting experiences, which he related, in getting from Los Angeles to New York, starting point of the derby.

The start from New York was made at eight a. m., daylight savings time, Capttain Morris stated, and the big ship did fine until the oil line broke and they crashed about three a. m. at Decatur, Ind., where they laid terribly injured until daylight, when people of the district found them. Colonel Thaw had his hip dislocated and was thought to have possible internal injuries, while Morris sustained a broken shoulder and fractured pelvis. Both have recovered and are ready to try it again.

Speaking about the past and the future of the flying game, Captain Morris stated that five years ago planes were very expensive and few were privately owned and it was difficult to get people to ride. Today there are many privately owned, as well as many publicly used planes, and that it was nothing for 50 people a day to take to the air in Pittsburgh.

In five years he predicted that production of planes would be increased to such an extent as to bring the cost down to $1,500, and that great air lines would be taking large groups of people all the time from point to point. He stated that the plans of the Department of Commerce already under way plan continuous runways between large cities, so that in going from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, for instance, that should trouble develop it would be possible to land on these publicly controlled continuous runways at any time.

What Others Say

More than a thousand of our consumers in other cities have tried out and tested these automatic gas heating machines. Here are a few testimonials.

"Previous to installing this machine I heated my house with an oil burner and I find that the present system has cut my heating cost almost in half. I find the system dependable and have not found it necessary to use any other fuel."

"We cannot see that it is any more expensive to operate than by heating with hard coal and even on the coldest days the temperature of our home has been kept uniform. We have been very comfortable."

"My machine is absolutely satisfactory in all respects. I consider this kind of heating machine the last word in solid comfort. While I have not kept a strict record of operating expense I am quite sure that it has cost me about the same as coal, without considering the dirt, labor and other troubles of coal."

"I wish to say the burner has given excellent service and is more economical than the former heat. Have been so enthusiastic about it that I have recommended it to all my friends."

"Very economical....very dependable....a great burner....you would never know it was operating and it is now indispensable."

"From my tenant's report it is more than satisfactory. He told me recently that he was spoiled for any other heating method."

New Castle Boosters Ready For Ceremony

Chairman William Connery Says Big Booster Program Ready

New Castle High Band To Benefit By Grid Game Here Saturday

(By "BUGS" WALTHER)

Chairman William Connery, of the New Castle Boosters Day program to be enacted at the New Castle-Beaver Falls grid game, at Franklin Field, on Saturday, said today that everything is in readiness.

The Booster Day ceremonies were to have taken place at the South Hills game on Saturday, November 3, but the day was so miserable that the affair was called off, and the date set for November 17.

The same identical program that was prepared for the South Hills game will be staged on this coming Saturday. The only part of the program not definitely decided upon is the parachute jumper from Detroit. If a jumper can be secured for Saturday he will make a leap from a plane of D. Roy Bradford, owner of the New Castle Aircraft Incorporated, who has donated the use of his plane to aid in the carrying out of the program.

Regardless of the parachute jumper project the plane to be utilized will be gaily decorated with the New Castle High colors and the football to be dropped upon the playing field will be fitted out in suitable colors to the occasion.

Bands To Play

The New Castle Senior High uniformed band of 50 pieces under the direction of John Paton, will be present Saturday to lend music to the program. The Beaver Falls High Band is also figuring on making a bit of noise here Saturday.

Saturday will mark the first home appearance of the Senior High band in their flashy new uniforms, only recently purchased. The boys wore them at the Greensburg game last Saturday and they presented a natty appearance.

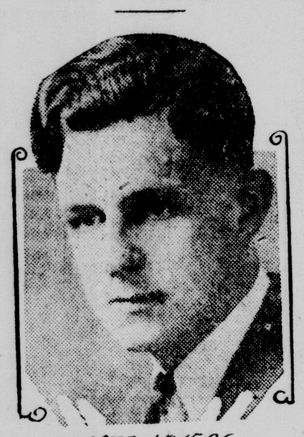

A part of the proceeds of the game this Saturday will go toward helping defray the expenses of the new uniforms. A good turnout of fans will insure the issue.

The Boy Scouts will be on hand to help in the program and to act at the Flag raising ceremonies preceding the game.

Dr. C. C. Green, City Superintendent of schools and Attorney Charles Young, president of the New Castle School Board will have charge of the dedication of the bronze tablet of the Class of 1923. It was the class of 1923 that gave the concrete stands proposition a big boost and a tablet commemorating this occasion been secured.

The New Castle Booster committee is hard at work and they have left nothing undone to make the big football party on Saturday a success.

Myers' latest run was his second place in the Allegheny Mountain association championship at Pittsburgh. He was awarded a silver championship medal for his run.

In the four meets in which Westminster harriers have engaged this season, Myers placed first in one and second in two. Last spring he proved an excellent understudy to Orvil Mirtz in the mile and half mile events. He has won two letters in cross country and one in track. Myers is a member of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity.

Talkin' About Fight Happy

Looks As Though There'll Be Brisk Action Monday Night

And Johnny Sure Can Battle

By ED. FRITZ

Happy Atherton, flyweight of Indianapolis, who engages Johnny McCoy, San Antonio, in a 10-round bout at Jolly Bowl Monday night, has not only fought all of the topnotchers, but also Izzy Schwartz, champion flyweight of the world.

That is the information contained in a clipping from the Journal, Fort Wayne, which was written by Bob Reed, a chap who understands his onions. Bob tells about the fight, and in summing up the engagement writes:

"Schwartz won a close verdict, but Atherton's work and his willingness won the favor of the crowd." Any time Bob says that fans can feel sure that Atherton demonstrated that he was among the two present, else he wouldn't have got that foliage of words.

Bill Powers, the boxing writer on the Cincinnati Enquirer, also has witnessed the Happy One in action, and when he sat through the fistic spectacle furnished by Atherton and Young Irish of Akron, he trotted to his typewriter and wrote as follows:

"Hurled by the tough Young Irish through the ropes onto his head, the bulldoggish and fighting Atherton came back to carry off the decision." Powers' account also described the Indianapolis flyweight as a chap who could "take it", something essential in fighting.

Atherton has also milled with the rough, tough, but not overly too handsome Yaqui Indian, Pinky Urquidi, and Luke Wright of Great Falls, writing in the Tribune, gave the decision to Happy. Anyone who can outrough the Yaqui must be as tame as a wild leopard.

Knows His Gloves

But Johnny McCoy knows his stuff and when he crawls into the bowl ring Monday night he will understand without it being impressed in words beforehand that he is in for a rough night. He knows all about the good work Atherton has been doing, and therefor is set.

Johnny came here, a veteran of the ring, pegged for a beating, and surprised all of us by standing up and fighting that good little Wee Willie Davies a great battle. He even knocked Davies down in the 10th, which upset the evening for Davies' staunch supporters.

Like Atherton, McCoy has met that notable kingpin of the flyweights, Schwartz. They fought in the southwest and Schwartz took the decision. After the fight the referee remarked: "It is tough to lose a decision like that." You can gamble on what he meant.

Yes sir, we're sure that neither McCoy nor Atherton will prove an Al De Rose. The featherweight might have been good in his own bailiwick, but he was not up to the Jolly Bowl standard, and naturally Johnny Datto knocked him loose from his moorings.

Carl Coming Back

Carl Cavelli, the rough, swinging Center street boy, will get a chance to swing with Jackie Powers in the semi-final. If Jackie's right hand is quicker than a left hook he may have a chance, but from where we sit, we believe he has signed himself into trouble.

This lad Cavelli is no parlor lizzard for good looks or smart ways, but he is the sort of a bear you wouldn't want to meet in a dark cave. He likes to give 'em, can take them aplenty and in gameness is the capital G.

But Joe Barber, who isn't a tonsor artist at all, but a business man of Youngstown, says that "Jackie will surprise the boys Monday." He has fought some good fights with Tony Canzoneri, alias Casey Swenger, and Joe believes he is ripe for the bigger lights at 115 pounds.

According to Carl, his many friends from the South Side will be present to see him fight again. He is only a youngster yet, is a local kid and Bill Jolly has put him on the card to act as a stimulus to the boys south of the Jefferson street bridge.

Romeo on Deck

Romeo Pacelli, the good looking, sheik-like featherweight, and a lad who takes advantage of every misplay by an opponent, will return with his blue and red tights to battle one Tony Azzari. Judging by the way Romeo is training, this Azzari is a tough mug.

Last Monday night Romeo drew a couple of bushels of raspberries because he nailed Mr. Jackie Coogan on the chin following a clinch. To be frank about it, he did not commit any breach of ring etiquette, as fighters are instructed to protect themselves at all times.

At the present time Pacelli is the best looking prospect in the featherweight ranks hereabouts, and if he wins from Azzari he will be given a chance to fight Mickie Dugan, who is a boy kept in the Dunn stable to test out "coming champions".

Roy Minteer of the South Side, who says he is French-American, will clash with that little Hebrew, Jimmy Engle, of Youngstown. If recollection serves coreectly this is about the fourth time these battlers have fought, and Monday night may not settle the fuss.

Engle Is Rough

Engle is a rough young boy and Minteer is no cream puff. He fights best when he stands up straight and carries the right; attest his showing with Ivanno, who, it is said, is the best puncher in the ranks hereabouts.

The first bout of the evening's evenin' has not yet been arranged, but Bill Jolly, the promoting matchmaker, is poring o'er the list of applicants and it may come to pass that he will toss in a couple of rough boys to start the evening off right.

And in order to start it off right at Jolly Bowl there must be a couple of knockdowns. Elmo is out of the game temporarily and his familiar grimaces are missing, but as soon as he returns someone remarked recently: "Warren Farrow will be waiting for him".

Paavo Denies He Will Turn 'Pro'

Paavo Nurmi is coming to the United States next month but not to run as a professional foot-racer, it is said today, contrary to reports from New York yesterday. He is coming here he says because the severe winter in Finland would interfere with a training campaign he has mapped out.

ROCCO, GOODMAN AND RIO WIN

New Castle Favorites Beat Sekyra, Michaels And Carpentier

Three New Castle ring favorites captured bouts at Rayen-Wood auditorium, Youngstown, last night. Emmett Rocco defeated Joe Sekyra in 12 rounds, Joey Goodman won from Johnny Michaels and Frankie Rio outpointed U. S. Carpentier in six round bouts.

Rocco was in far better shape last night than he was during the first bout which Sekyra won. In the first few rounds Sekyra outjabbed Rocco but as the latter part of the battle progressed Rocco overcame the lead to win, according to local fans.

Joey Goodman met the tough Johnny Michaels of Jamestown, N. Y., and although Michaels employed a turtle defense Goodman rolled him several times and there was no question to the decision.

Frankie Rio put a feather in his pugilistic cap by outpointing U. S. Carpentier of Pittsburgh in six fast rounds. It was a very good bout but Rio earned the popular decision.

They were the only boys with a New Castle flavor who fought at the auditorium last night.

Thiel-Duquesne To Play Saturday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—Two of the fastest teams among the smaller football elevens in western Pennsylvania college circles will meet each other here Saturday in the Thiel-Duquesne fray. Duquesne has been brushing up on the running and passing attack that has given the locals their best team in history. Today's practice program outlined the Duke defense planned for Thiel.

Grovers To Play Villa Nova Team

Coach Berry Driving Crimson Gridders Hard For Game In East Saturday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 15.—Saturday's scoreless tie with Waynesburg was a hard blow to Grove City football fans, who were so confident that the Crimson would have a comparatively easy time with the down-state gridders. Coach Berry, however, feared a let-down due to over-confidence, and his judgment was vindicated by the result.

That game is a matter of history, and the Grovers are now preparing for their first appearance in class A circles this year. Villa Nova has been too powerful for many of the eastern teams this year and was in line for championship honors until last Saturday, when held to a scoreless tie by Temple. Every Grove City fan is predicting nothing less than a tie score in Saturday's contest at Philadelphia, and a victory will be a decided boost for the Crimson football stock.

Last Nights Fights

AT BOSTON—Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, outpointed Larry Brignolia of Cambridge, Mass. (10).

AT NEW YORK—George Courtney, Oklahoma middleweight, scored technical knockout over Paul Swiderski, Syracuse lightheavyweight (8).

AT DETROIT—Billy Shaw, Detroit, won from Archie Bell, New York, on foul (8).

Three New Castle Regulars Injured

Ostrosky, Mooney And Ciccone Suffering Injuries; Scrimmage Wednesday

HARD WORKOUT IS SCHEDULED TODAY

Three of the New Castle high school football players may not see much action in the New Castle-Beaver Falls game Saturday at Franklin field. The three regulars suffering injuries are Ostrosky, Mooney and Ciccone.

Coach Bridenbaugh sent the red and black team through a stiff scrimmage session yesterday at Franklin field and was well satisfied. The New Castle players to a man are determined to stop the advance of the highly touted Beaver Falls team toward the schoolboy championship.

It was a severe blow to the locals when Ostrosky reported with a bad shoulder, Mooney with an injured knee and Ciccone with a bad side. Coach Bridenbaugh is hoping that the three stars can play in the Beaver Falls game.

Indicate Large Crowd.

According to advices in the Beaver Valley, the big Tiger eleven will be supported by about 2,000 fans when they trot out on Franklin field. The Beaver Falls crowd will occupy the bleachers on the western side of the field.

The Beaver Falls high uniformed band will make the trip here.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today announced the officials for Saturday as Rebele, Robb and Houtz.

If all the statisticians were placed end to end, we'd have a new statistic about as worthless as some of the others.

Waynesburg Meets Westminster Team At New Wilmington

Yellow Jackets Looking For Stiff Battle With Westminster Team Saturday

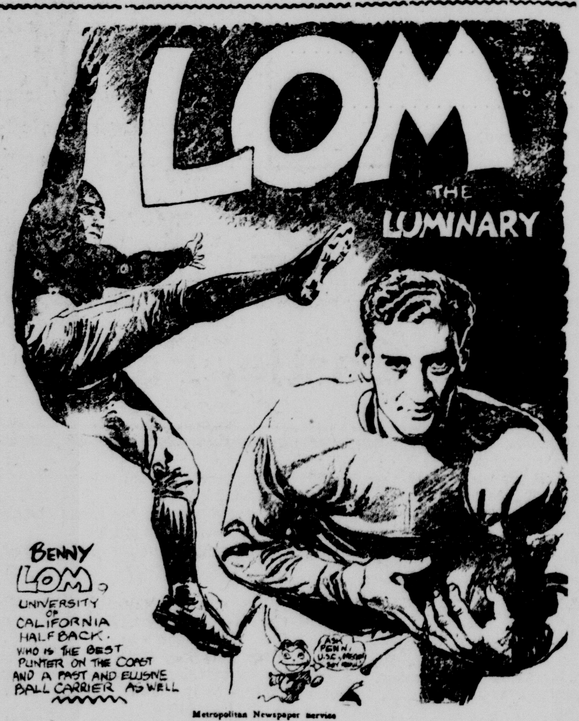

WAYNESBURG, Nov. 15.—Frank Wolf's Yellow Jacket gridders who sprung the biggest surprise of the tri-state district last Saturday by holding the powerful Grove City eleven to a scoreless tie, will meet their second Tri-state Conferenec opponent of the season Saturday when they square off against Westminster at New Wilmington and the game looms as one of the best conference offerings of the season if Waynesburg can retain the stride of last Saturday.

Just how successful the Yellow Jackets will be against Coach Beede's eleven which is considered one of the best to represent Westminster on the gridiron for several years, remains to be seen, but holding Grove City scoreless last Saturday has bolstered the morale of the Wolfpack and they go into the contest at New Wilmington with the conviction that they can beat the Titans if they play as good ball as they did against Charley Berry's Crimson team.

Since the resumption of annual meetings between Waynesburg and Westminster in 1922, the Yellow Jackets have never been defeated but the fact that Coach Wolf has the poorest material this season a Waynesburg coach has had in the last six years has caused local fans to be a bit doubtful as to the outcome of the coming fray.

Berkeley's Benny — By Feg Murray

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Out in California they are singing the praises of a young Jewish football player, Benny Lom who has topped off a good 1927 season by starring in nearly every game he has played in this year. Benny is a real triple-threat man and is being primed for the "Big Game' of the coast, that with Stanford on November 24. It was in this contest last year that Lom brought a chill to 40,000 Stanford supporters by dashing around the Cardinals right wing for a long gain only to be forced out of bounds three inches from the goal line.

Lom is a great punter and California always seems to have good kickers ever since the days of Archie Nesbit of Andy Smith's "Wonder Team." Ben's long boots repeatedly kept Southern California away from the U. C. goal line in the Bears surprising scoreless tie with the Trojans this year, just as his beautiful spirals had prevented further scoring on the Southern Californians' part in the 1927 battle.

As a ball carrier Benny Lom is a streak of greased lightning and his ability as an accurate passer keeps the secondary offense constantly on guard as his opponets never know whether he is going to run with the ball or throw it. Lom scored against Oregon and completely fooled the "Web-foots" by a long end run from punt formation.

It was Lom's 31-yard pass to Norton that defeated St. Mary's early in October and against Santa Clara he scored one of his team's three touchdown's on a 42-yard gallop. Bear partisans are claiming that Benny Lom is as great as Michigan's great all around player of a few years back Benny Friedman.

The "Violent Violets' of New York University in spite of a song went "Fifty thousand Strong, while we are marching through Georgetown" were unable to keep their goal line in-violate.

Paulino-Dempsey Battle Planned

Basque Woodchopper Says He Will Meet Dempsey In New York City Next June

RICKARD CONFIDENT JACK WILL FIGHT

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—"Jack Dempsey will sign a contract in January to fight a leading white heavyweight next summer at a New York ball park"—Tex Rickard.

"It will give me great pleasure to meet Dempsey at the Yankee Stadium in June 15, 1929"—Paulino Uzcudun.

"I may fight and I may not, depending on how I feel next year. That's a long time off, and I'm a changeable guy."—Jack Dempsey.

Interest in the scramble for Gene Tunney's vacated heavyweight title reached the boiling point today as a result of the above statements, made following a conference between the promoter and Dempsey late yesterday and dinner given by Paulino last night to Metropolitan sports writers.

Dempsey, who attended the dinner, evaded the issue of his comeback. But Rickard, who has just returned from Florida, said he was convinced that he had persuaded the former champion to make an attempt to regain his lost laurels.

Wants Half Million.

It was learned that Dempsey had stipulated that his opponent must be one of the following group—Uzcudun, Jack Sharkey, Knute Hansen or Young Stribling. Dempsey also was quoted as saying that he must get a percentage of the receipts that will assure him half a million dollars for his end.

While Rickard professed to believe that the negotiations were as good as closed, Dempsey was his usual noncommital self.

"I'm not ready to make any statements right now," Dempsey said at the dinner. Then he intimated that he had decided to attempt a comeback by adding: "Tex and I never had any trouble in the past over terms and we won't have any this time."

In a speech at the dinner Dempsey referred to Paulino as "one of the greatest and gamest heavyweights in the game today."

The next speaker, the grinning, gold-toothed basque, seized upon this opportunity to announce that he would fight the ex-champion on June 15, 1929, at the Yankee Stadium. He declined to amplify that statement.

Dempsey and his wife plan to leave for Los Angeles next Monday or Tuesday. According to Rickard, the old Manassa Mauler will meet him in the south in January for the signing ceremony.

Chicago Cubs Look Like Flag Winners

Acquisition Of Rogers Hornsby Gives Chicago Cubs Pennant Winning Aspect

Speculate On Whether Or Not McCarthy Will Listen To Hornsby's Prattle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—"Watch the Chicago Cubs", comes the word from the boys who see all, hear all and know nothing. "Watch the Cubs with Hornsby in there."

There's one thing you can always say for the boys. They are never any sillier than usual. With Hornsby playing second base and Joe McCarthy running the ball club, no one will have to tell baseball to watch the Cubs. It will be watching because it will be prompted by one of the most impelling of all emotions—human curiosity. No chemical laboratory ever attempted a more interesting experiment than will be sponsored in Chicago next spring.

There is little of the "clubhouse lawyer" about Hornsby. His emotions are too honest to tolerate even a hint of surreptitious conniving. He simply is impetuous, crazy to win. In fact, he is a ball player with only one possible liability. He prefers to do his thinking out loud.

Branch Rickey, Jack Hendricks and Jim Tierney have listened from left to right to some of his most candid thoughts without marked enthusiasm. The first two were managers of ball clubs on which Hornsby worked; the third is something of a one-man "kitchen cabinet". All three are agreed that there is one outstanding trouble with Hornsby. He isn't a deaf mute.

McCarthy Is Boss

Will McCarthy overlook a few frank utterances from time to time? Undoubtedly. Joseph generally is credited with being a man of human understanding and an occasional expression of honest opinion about this and that is only part of the ball game, after all. But Joseph's family name is McCarthy and he comes by it very honestly.

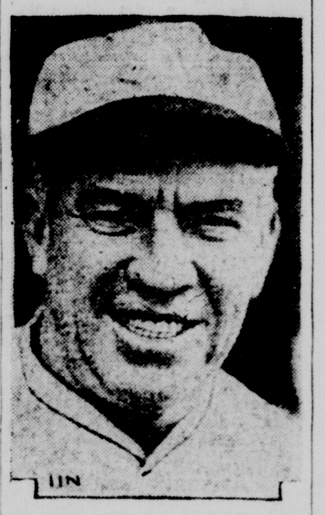

"There's one thing you can bet on, no matter what happens," an American Association man told the writer recently. "Joe McCarthy will boss any ball club he is managing."

This man knew McCarthy through all of the latter's years in the Association. But he doesn't know Hornsby or he wouldn't be thinking along the lines his remark called to mind. Hornsby is no man to consciously and deliberately try to undermine another's authority. To all outward intents he reported to Jack Slattery in St. Petersburg last spring with nothing in his mind except the matter of getting himself ready to give the best he had for the ball club. It is natural to suppose that Hornsby had something to do with or was behind the beheading of Slattery and his own elevation to the job of player-manager. There is nothing in the evidence to sustain this notion.

Hornsby, however, did say a number of things to the boys in his role of field captain, and his tone never was the kind that lacks authority. He wasn't with the club three days before he had called some of the players off the gallows for smoking in the dressing room. That's Hornsby. Intolerant of carefree spirit; out of patience with mediocrity. He lives baseball; he breathes it. To those who don't share his enthusiasm he becomes something of a fanatic, a pest.

Watch the Cubs; the next thing you know somebody will be telling us not to forget to breathe.

He'll Pilot Bears

Milk Producers Meet Wednesday

Consider Milk Price Situation In District And Discuss Co-operation

Some 40 members of the New Castle Dairymen's Cooperative Sales association, composed of county milk producers, met Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss further the price problems facing the organization at the present time.

At this meeting W. S. Wise and William Bullard, officials of the dairymen's association from Pittsburgh, spoke to the producers.

A committee was appointed to canvass the milk producers in order to list their cooperation with the association. The consensus of opinion among the men at the meeting seemed to be that sufficient cooperation was not found among the county producers. The committee is composed of J. N. Fullerton, Harold Hoye and Jesse Carr.

Majestic CROSSES OCEAN in Graf Zeppelin! FIRST AS USUAL

For the first time in history a console radio set has crossed the ocean in an airship. It was a MAJESTIC, of course . . .

and MAJESTIC was chosen because of merit!

Read this interesting letter received from the Zeppelin's Chief Engineer:

(Translation)

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 20, 1928

Gentlemen:

I am the Chief Engineer of the dirigible Graf Zeppelin and came to America in her very recently, and through relatives in Philadelphia I heard your Majestic Radio Apparatus.

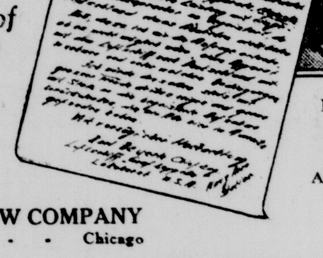

I like the performance of the built-in loud speaker very well and since we do not have anything like that in Germany I beg to ask you if it would not be possible to take one of your sets back with me in the Zeppelin to Germany, and under what conditions.

I would show the set with great joy over there and it would help me remember the enthusiastic reception which all of us found in America.

Very sincerely, Karl Beuerle, Chief Engineer
Luftschiff "Graf Zeppelin"
Lakehurst, U. S. A. Navy Aero Station

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Just about the time the directors of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey met today to talk about the cash dividend on the common stock. Brokers and traders were rushing about excitedly to buy the shares today at the highest prices since 1922.

Standard Oil of New Jersey sold today at 54½, the highest price in six years, and Standard of New York, the next biggest of the Rockefeller family, moved up to 39½. Marland and Mid Continent pete were active and strong.

The battle of dollars was waged with vigor in the steel and high-priced specialty stocks today. Bethlehem Steel, the "Bessie E" of the war-babies, sailed along to 73½, the highest price in six years. Bulls in Bethlehem are confident of a cash dividend on their stock before the end of the year. Briggs Manufacturing, favorite of Detroit speculators, added about 6 points to yesterday's 3½ point jump; Congoleum, with a flying start from yesterday's active market, also hung up a new price record.

General Motors sold today at 215, against 224¾ last week. Chrysler was none too strong and United States Steel bulls also "backed away" from offerings of the stock.

Patterson Named Roll Call Director

Local Red Cross Chapter Concentrates On Coming Drive

Attorney Clarence A. Patterson was today named chairman of the twelfth annual roll call of the Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross, Pat. J. Dempsey, executive secretary announced.

Mr. Patterson will immediately go into conference with members of the chapter's staff to outline plans for the ensuing drive. Dates for the roll call have not been chosen as yet.

According to Secretary Dempsey, the campaign for the organization's quota of 1500 new members throughout the county, will only be conducted in those districts where Community Chest drives have not functioned. The cities of Ellwood City and New Castle and the town of New Wilmington will not be included in the canvass for members.

One of the important matters preceding the opening of the roll call that must be settled at once is the naming of various district chairmen, who will serve the Red Cross as leaders in their respective districts.

National headquarters of the American Red Cross have set five million as the membership goal to be reached in this fall's enlistment.

Just Among Us Girls

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Did some roaming out over the new municipal golf course Wednesday afternoon and you'll be surprised as I was when you go out there. The folks who thought that the old poor farm coudn't be utilized for a golf course will be pleasantly surprised for the committee in charge has done wonders.

You can't imagine a better location for a course. Away off the main road where the fervent words following a dubbed drive will not reach the ears of passersby, out in the wide open spaces, it promises to be a much used golf course when the day for play arrives.

It was the first trip out to the old poor farm in some years. The old place is just the same. The big walnut tree still stands out in the front yard and the barn still has as many nooks and crannies for hide and seek as it did years ago.

Perhaps you don't remember when Mr. and Mrs. Gold were in charge of the poor farm. They had a couple of boys who went to the Thaddeus Stevens school and the farm was just the right distance away from town for a sleigh ride.

In those days the poor farm was miles away from town it seemed. Driving into the spacious farmyard surrounding the house, on a crisp winter night, with sleigh bells jingling and a lot of youngsters yelling was an experience.

And then a big oyster feed laid out on a table that was yards long. Games and songs and other indoor sports until midnight and then the long ride back to New Castle.

No concrete roads then, no motors, just horse power and a dirt road, but there was a heap of fun in it.

Then that road that leads out from East New Castle past the farm. It used to be a great place for exploration in the summer days. The hazel nut bushes always revealed a lot of nuts hanging down hidden by the foliage, and in the early fall the chestnut trees off from the right of the road seldom failed.

It isn't far from town now, even though you walk, but for a couple of bare footed boys it was a long trip, hot and dusty, but old Blue Bell usually invited a swim on the way back.

How many of you can find Blue Bell now without having to stop and think. The cement dam ended that swimming hole but perhaps you can remember when there was no cement dam out there, when it was just country for miles around.

As a swimming pool Blue Bell wouldn't compare to a modern city natatorium or an indoor such as the Franklin Junior High School has. But there are many New Castle business men who remember the old spot, and as small as it was, they learned to swim there.

And many a hard working citizen missed some apples from his trees when the gang started back home. Swimming invites such a raring appetite, and apples can always be eaten by small boys.

Those were the days when a fellow traveled light. A hickory shirt and a pair of pants, and perhaps a hat, that was all. It was a moment's work to be ready for the pool for bathing suits were just for dudes. And then of course the business of rubbing dust on your face after you came out to convince the folks at home that you hadn't been any ways near a swimming hole.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

If you have a thumping in your head, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, lack of strength and endurance and are extremely nervous, you have symptoms of high blood pressure—a serious ailment that should have immediate attention.

High blood pressure causes much physical discomfort and if permitted to continue, is extremely dangerous. It should be checked at the earliest possible moment.

Thanks to a physician's prescription, high blood pressure may be reduced quickly and easily. Simply go to your nearest drug store and get a bottle of Norma. Norma is a palliative in cases of high blood pressure. A few days' use should show a marked improvement in your condition. The thumping and pounding in your head should disappear and as the blood pressure is reduced the dizzy spells should become less and less frequent and you should find you are much stronger, have more endurance with a real joy in living.

Norma is a scientific formula, is not a laxative, is easy and pleasant to take and often only a few days' use is very helpful.
